Robo3D achieves record monthly revenue following launch into Best Buy

Highlights

- Robo3D generates monthly revenue of approximately USD$440,000 (c. A$630,000) in October 2015, representing a more than 80% increase compared to October 2014.
- Year to date revenue of approximately USD$2.3 million (c. A$3.3 million) for 10 months ended October 2015, more than 100% higher than the same period in 2014.
- Significant milestone in Robo3D's history, with the delivery of its 3D printers into retail stores for the first time in October 2015, highlighted by its launch into Best Buy, the largest electronics retailer in North America, with 1,477 stores in the USA and 267 stores in Canada.
- Initial launch across 50 of Best Buy's retail stores provides Robo3D with significant brand exposure in the emerging desktop 3D printer category ahead of pivotal "Black Friday" and "Cyber Monday" days over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, and in the lead up to Christmas holiday period.
- Premium "end of aisle" in-store locations provide opportunity for Robo3D to provide interactive demonstration environment, further enhancing brand awareness.
- October 2015 also marked the first full month of delivery of management services agreement by Crowd & Company's ("Crowd & Co"), Robo3D's commercialisation partner.
- Negotiations continue with other major retailers in the USA as well as international distributors.

Falcon Minerals Limited ("Falcon" or "Company") is pleased to provide an update on the performance of Robo3D and further information on its recent launch with the largest electronics retailer in North America, Best Buy.

About Best Buy

Best Buy is the leading provider of technology products, services and solutions in the USA. The company offers expert service at an unbeatable price more than 1.5 billion times a year to the consumers, small business owners and educators who visit its stores. The company has operations in the U.S. where more than 70 percent of the population lives within 15 minutes of a Best Buy store, as well as in Canada and Mexico, where Best Buy has a physical and online presence. Best Buy generates more than USD$40 billion annually in sales and has more than 1,600 stores and locations, including large-format and Best Buy Mobile stores, and employs more than 125,000 people.

Robo3D retail launch with Best Buy

Prior to October 2015, sales of Robo3D's 3D printers and accessories have been almost exclusively through online sales channels including Robo3D.com, Amazon.com and Bestbuy.com. The bricks and mortar in-store rollout into Best Buy during October 2015 marks a major milestone for Robo3D in its aggressive growth plans. Robo3D's flagship "R1 +Plus" 3D printer has been delivered into 50 selected Best Buy stores throughout the USA. In a major coup for Robo3D, Crowd & Co has also negotiated for Robo3D's products to be displayed at premium "end of aisle" locations across the Best Buy stores.

Critically, this will allow Robo3D to showcase:

- Live demonstrations of the 3D printer;
- Examples of 3D print and materials;
- Examples of the filaments available;
- Examples of product packs; and
- Videos on how to use the Robo3D machines.

In addition to the Best Buy rollout, Robo3D continues to advance discussions with a number of other major retailers for launch in 2016. Further announcements will be made once discussions advance to a formal stage.

Revenue Growth

Robo3D is pleased to announce that it achieved revenue of approximately USD$440,000 (c. A$630,000) in the month of October 2015, representing a more than 80% increase compared to October 2014, delivering year to date revenue for 2015 of approximately USD$2.3 million (c. A$3.3 million) for the 10 months ended October 2015, more than 100% higher than the same period in 2014.

This financial performance highlights the positive impact the signing of the Management Services Agreement (“MSA”) with Crowd & Co has had on sales momentum, combined with the impact of the USD$1.5 million investment to date from Albion 3D, have had on Robo3D’s sales in only the first month of the new collaborations.
