About this Report

The 2019–20 Suncorp Responsible Business Report (Report) details our approach, progress and future commitments to building a resilient and sustainable organisation that values customer, shareholder and stakeholder outcomes.

We publish this Report on 21 August 2020 as part of our Annual Report suite of documents. It covers the period 1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020, and where appropriate, references events that have occurred since the end of the financial reporting period, but before the publication of this Report.

This year we have built upon our comprehensive assessment of material environmental, social and governance topics conducted in 2019 to reflect topics that have emerged and increased in priority for Suncorp to address during the Reporting period.

Our approach to non-financial disclosures continues to evolve and for the first time we have reported our performance against targets published in our 2018–19 Responsible Business Report.

Significant organisational changes since last year's report include the divestment of Suncorp's Capital S.M.A.R.T and ACM Parts businesses. Suncorp also welcomed a new Chief Executive Officer for the Group. On 1 July 2020, Suncorp announced a new operating model and leadership structure. Details can be found at suncorpgroup.com.au/news

Message from our Chairman

The past 12 months have brought extraordinary challenge and uncertainty for people and communities across the globe. As a relentless drought was impacting the lives of many regional families, we are now also dealing with the immediate impacts of the COVID-19 global pandemic and summer of disasters on our people, customers, and communities, and the long-term implications for our economies and environment.

These events further highlight the important role Suncorp plays in supporting both the immediate and long-term recovery of our customers, communities and the economy. Our purpose – to build futures and protect what matters – is at the heart of how we respond.

Improving our business practices

Our ability to respond to the challenges faced this year was due in large part to a culture that appropriately balances customer and community outcomes, financial performance and risk management.

In dealing with the significant impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic, the health and safety of our people was our immediate priority. We also moved quickly to support our customers with relief packages and other measures.

More broadly this year, we have strengthened support for customers facing hardship, and introduced greater transparency and enhanced protections for customers. This has underpinned our transition to the updated General Insurance Code of Practice and the commencement of our Responsible Banking & Insurance Policy implementation.

Suncorp continues to welcome regulatory change that creates improved outcomes for customers. We regularly advocate with government and regulators on matters impacting our business and key stakeholders, with a focus on ensuring that change does not have unintended consequences for consumers. This year, our advocacy included a submission to Treasury on the implementation of reforms flowing from the Royal Commission into Banking and Financial Services (the Royal Commission), focusing on the anti-hawking provisions, breach reporting, and the enforceability of industry codes.

Conduct and culture remain a priority

Strengthening trust by improving our conduct and culture remained a priority this year. We conducted an employee engagement and culture assessment, refreshed our Code of Conduct, strengthened our risk culture and risk and compliance capability, and increased transparency of our non-financial performance metrics.

During the year Suncorp initiated a review of pay and leave entitlements. Regrettably, early analysis of historical data indicated inconsistencies in relation to the Group's rostering and pay systems. The Board Risk Committee is overseeing the review and is committed to a timely and accurate remediation process, which will be communicated with employees and shareholders upon completion.

We take our responsibilities as a large business seriously and are always looking for ways to improve outcomes for all stakeholders.

Building long-term resilience

This year we deepened our understanding of the strategic and financial risks and opportunities presented by the changing climate through comprehensive scenario analysis. The insights gained will help us manage risks posed by the increasing severity of natural hazards, act on new and emerging opportunities, and support an orderly transition to a net-zero emissions economy.

Suncorp has taken a careful and considered approach to building resilience to the physical risks of climate change, as well as reducing the impacts of economic and transition risks, to ensure our business is sustainable into the future.

We continue to advocate for greater investment by government in effective natural hazard resilience building, which will also provide much-needed economic stimulus in the current environment, particularly in our regional communities.

The actions our organisation takes to address our most material social and environmental issues, combined with our advocacy for change, are critical to ensuring Suncorp remains well positioned to be a more resilient company for the benefit of all its stakeholders.

Stakeholder engagement

Suncorp collaborates with a broad range of stakeholders to identify and manage business risks and opportunities, to advocate for positive outcomes and to ultimately create long-term value.

Materiality

OUR APPROACH

Suncorp proactively manages the material economic, social and environmental risks and opportunities identified by our key stakeholders and our business.

Regular materiality assessments help us identify and prioritise the topics of most significance for our business, ensuring they reflect the needs and expectations of our stakeholders, and society, both now and in the future. The results of our materiality assessment inform our corporate responsibility approach, strategic priorities and reporting. Suncorp's material topics are managed through the lens of our four key Corporate Responsibility Principles, which help guide our decision making and balance customer outcomes, financial performance and risk management.

This year we built upon the comprehensive materiality assessment conducted in 2019, to reflect changes to our operating environment and emerging priorities resulting from the unprecedented events of the COVID-19 global pandemic and the Australian bushfire crisis.

RESPONDING TO OUR CHANGING OPERATING ENVIRONMENT

This year has seen unprecedented change in our region and globally, resulting in new material topics, as well as a shift in the importance and impact of several topics identified in our last materiality assessment.

Changes from our 2018-19 assessment include:

- the emergence of new material topics including business continuity and product innovation, and a heightened focus on employee health and wellbeing, support for people experiencing vulnerability, financial resilience, workforce planning and digital capability as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic
- the heightened importance to stakeholders of natural hazard resilience, support for people experiencing vulnerability, and climate change impacts on our business, customers and communities, since the summer of disasters
- human rights, including modern slavery as a new material topic for Suncorp to address, particularly in response to the introduction of the Modern Slavery Act in Australia.

The most material topics based on their importance to stakeholders and the potential impact on our business are outlined on the next page (see diagram).

Our updated materiality assessment this year is based on:

Identification

- a review of global megatrends, media and peer activities across Australia and New Zealand, including industry trends
- incorporation of stakeholder expectations and responses to COVID-19 and the Australian bushfire crisis including from investors, analysts, customers, government and community representatives, consumer advocates, NGOs, partners, suppliers and peers
- a review of our performance in key sustainability rating benchmarks
- feedback from formal and ongoing informal stakeholder engagement throughout the year (as outlined in table on page 6)
- employee engagement and culture assessment responses

Prioritisation

- an internal materiality survey of business representatives and management to identify and prioritise environmental, social and governance topics

Validation

- validation of the most significant topics via an internal management group and input from senior leaders

OUR PROGRESS

Suncorp continued to strengthen our practices and culture and embrace regulatory change to deliver better outcomes for our customers and the community, and build a resilient, sustainable business.

STRENGTHENING CONDUCT AND CULTURE

During 2019–20 Suncorp sharpened its focus on managing conduct risk and developing a risk culture that embeds risk awareness, transparency and accountability at every level, and exemplifies responsible and ethical behaviour. Doing the right thing by our people, our customers, our shareholders and the community is our priority, and core to sustaining long-term financial performance.

Culture assessment

This year Suncorp undertook an independent Group-wide culture assessment to better understand our current culture and identify opportunities to shift the culture to more effectively deliver on our strategy. The survey highlighted the willingness of our people to do the right thing by our customers and build trust, and the care they have for each other. More than 89 per cent of people noted that compliance requirements were a priority, while the survey also identified areas for improvement such as delivering greater clarity and connection to our strategy, and driving a deeper understanding of how our risk practices support growth and innovation.

Conduct risk

Robust management of conduct risk is central to driving the right behaviours at both an individual and organisational level, ensuring we act in the interests of customers and the community and confidence in our organisation is maintained. This year we continued to improve our governance, systems, processes, reporting and people practices as key enablers to identifying and managing conduct risk.

We also embedded our online tool, which enables employees to raise issues by lodging risk incidents. Risk culture principles, which outline attributes and behaviours of the risk culture we expect from everyone at Suncorp, have been incorporated into key policies and governance, including Suncorp's Code of Conduct.

Suncorp New Zealand's Conduct Uplift Program continued to improve conduct capability across the business, with more than 70 measures implemented resulting in enhanced product and system training, improved readability of our policies and customer communications, and a deeper understanding of customer outcomes and experiences.

Code of Conduct

This year Suncorp refreshed its Code of Conduct to be easier to understand and more reflective of the current regulatory environment. Our refreshed Code of Conduct helps bring our purpose to life and is guided by our cultural principles. It is aligned to our Risk Culture Principles, the General Insurance Code of Practice and the Banking Code of Practice, with strengthened focus on supporting customers experiencing financial difficulty or vulnerability, transparent customer communications, and taking ownership of good customer and community outcomes.

Changes to elevate the importance and weighting of the risk category in the Group Scorecard structure were approved by the Board. Throughout the year, all executive and non-executive employees' performance assessments included confirmation of their adherence to the behavioural standards outlined in Suncorp's Code of Conduct.

In 2019–2020, Suncorp's Consequence Management Framework was introduced to strengthen the link between conduct and individual performance and reward outcomes. During the year, there were 239 Code of Conduct breaches identified that resulted in formal consequences, including 66 employees leaving Suncorp, 28 employees receiving nil variable rewards; and the remaining 145 employees receiving a minimum 20 per cent reduction in variable rewards.

Ethical Decision-Making

During 2020 Suncorp partnered with the Ethics Centre to create an Ethical Decision-Making Masterclass for all leaders. The program complements Suncorp's Code of Conduct, and helps participants develop and apply ethical knowledge and skills to all decision making. It positions leadership as an ethical practice, enhances awareness of ethical blind spots and biases, and provides tools for navigating daily decisions. Using a scenario-based approach, leaders apply an ethical lens to navigate complex decisions and are encouraged to consider the impacts on a range of stakeholders.

REMUNERATION PRACTICES

Suncorp is committed to a fair, transparent and responsible remuneration framework. The Board ensures Suncorp's remuneration arrangements are strategically aligned and reinforce executive accountability, responsible business practices, effective risk management, as well as drive a company culture.

Pay and leave entitlements review

In late 2019, Suncorp initiated an internal review of pay and leave entitlements, with early analysis of historical data indicating inconsistencies in relation to the Group's rostering and pay systems. This may have led to errors in payments of overtime, shift penalties and public holiday loadings. The analysis to date identifies potential instances of underpayments and overpayments. The review is ongoing.

The Board Risk Committee is overseeing the review and is convening regular meetings to closely monitor progress; ensure remediation processes are timely and accurate and are communicated with employees and shareholders upon completion; and ensure new processes are sufficiently robust so that this does not reoccur.

ADVOCATING FOR THE THINGS THAT MATTER

In 2020, Suncorp integrated its approach to advocacy as a core pillar of our company strategy. We promote regular, two-way dialogue about our opportunities and challenges with our stakeholders, which helps inform the decisions we make and enables us to understand what matters most. We advocate for effective responses to the topics of most significance to our stakeholders and business with a focus on affecting positive change. Our advocacy and our actions as an organisation work together to build the resilience of our customers, communities, people and industry by focusing on financial, social and natural hazard resilience. Being transparent and actioning evidenced-based insights from customers, governments and community groups to create measurable impacts underpins our approach.

EMBRACING REGULATORY CHANGE

Suncorp continued to actively respond to the changing regulatory requirements faced by the financial services industry during 2019-20 and embraced the opportunity to improve customer value, enhance our risk management approach and better meet community expectations.

Under Suncorp's customer and regulatory engagement program, solid progress has been made in responding to the findings of the Royal Commission, and Risk Governance Self-Assessment outcomes. Scorecards and remuneration frameworks have been updated and the Non-Financial Risk Committee has invested in greater compliance resourcing and improved incident management and risk practices.

Suncorp is compliant with the Sedgwick Remuneration Review Recommendations¹ from 1 July 2020, excluding Recommendation 18 relating to Mortgage Broker remuneration given the Government's policy reform.

The COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in the deferral of several key regulatory reforms by the Australian government and regulators, including the implementation of commitments made following the Royal Commission, and Design and Distribution Obligations. Suncorp remains well positioned to meet the new proposed implementation timeframes, where clarity has been provided on the requirements.

Banking Executive Accountability Regime

Suncorp continues to support the principles of the Banking Executive Accountability Regime (BEAR), a regulatory initiative that helps drive greater clarity of accountability and good governance practices across the Australian banking sector. Accountability statements outlining the individual accountabilities for relevant Suncorp executives and Board members have been lodged with the Australian Prudential Regulatory Authority (APRA). All Accountable Persons have a BEAR-compliant remuneration structure. The Suncorp Executive Leadership Team have had this structure since 1 July 2018. Further detail is provided in the Remuneration Report in the 2019-20 Annual Report, available at suncorpgroup.com.au/investors/reports

Breaches and remediation

Suncorp is committed to treating all customers fairly. We maintain, monitor and continuously improve our processes and practices to identify, assess and rectify any breaches that do occur, ensuring we learn from mistakes and remediate impacted customers in a timely manner. We continue to focus on our product design and distribution strategies to enhance customer value and experience.

This year, Suncorp New Zealand established a customer remediation programme and is currently assessing and remediating a limited number of situations affecting customers.

With oversight from the Australian Securities & Investments Commission (ASIC), Suncorp finalised the remediation of customer outcomes on the quality of advice provided by our former financial planning business, Guardian Advice. We also completed a review and remediation program related to the sale of consumer credit insurance to home and personal lending customers.

In line with statutory requirements and regulator expectations, in 2019–20 Suncorp reviewed its approach to grandfathered commissions. Effective 1 October 2019, Suncorp Financial Services elected to cease receipt of grandfathered commissions, with appropriate benefits passed on to its members. Suncorp Portfolio Services Limited (SPSL), our wholly owned superannuation company with an independent Board, ceased all payments of grandfathered commissions to independent financial advisers on 30 June 2020.

In July 2020, the APRA announced the outcome of its review and licence conditions on the superannuation licence held by SPSL arising from a review of the period 2013–2017. The condition requires SPSL to document how it considers and prioritises members interests when making decisions that materially affect their interests. APRA's investigation did not conclude that SPSL breached the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993.

MANAGING AND PROTECTING DATA

Managing and protecting data is critical to maintaining the trust and confidence of our stakeholders. In response to growing customer expectations, increasing use of digital channels by our customers and the changing regulatory environment, Suncorp continues to strengthen its approach to managing data and invest in leading technologies to protect customers.

Data Ethics Principles

In 2019–20, Suncorp developed a set of Data Ethics Principles which reflect the Australian Government's AI Ethics Principles. The Principles support Suncorp's Enterprise Risk Management Framework, Privacy Policy and Code of Conduct to protect the rights of our stakeholders when we collect, use and retain their data. A Data Ethics Advisory Committee has been formed to integrate the Principles into our business practices.

Cyber security and financial crime

As the digital environment evolves, Suncorp continues to evolve its capabilities in protecting our customers from the threat of cyber and financial crime. Our dedicated Financial Crime and Anti-Money Laundering / Counter-Terrorism Financing systems leverage world-class detection and prevention technologies.

This year, we invested in advanced data analytics and fraud-detection technology to ensure we can intervene early and disrupt criminal activity, before it impacts our customers. We also enhanced our policies and practices, including the development of an Anti-Bribery & Corruption Policy for employees and further alignment of our investigation practices with updated industry Codes of Practice.

Suncorp supports law enforcement and intelligence agencies to help address cyber crimes. We run ongoing employee and customer education programs on cyber security risks and work with community groups to support customers impacted by financial crimes and scams. This year we collaborated with Queensland University of Technology in industry-leading scam research, which we've extended to industry working groups. We also invested in scam-intervention techniques to reduce the impact on our customers, including enhanced support for victims of identity theft.

More information on Suncorp's approach to data governance and cyber security is available in our 2019–20 Corporate Governance Statement at suncorpgroup.com.au/about/corporate-governance

ENGAGING WITH GOVERNMENT AND INDUSTRY

Suncorp proactively participates in government inquiries and public policy advocacy on key reforms affecting our business as well as our customers. Through our engagement with government we seek to deliver enhanced outcomes and positive changes for our customers and other stakeholders.

We are committed to conducting these activities transparently, ethically and honestly. In accordance with our Political Donations Policy Statement, Suncorp does not make any cash donations to political stakeholders or organisations.

During the year, Suncorp made 20 submissions to government inquiries, consultation processes or draft legislation in Australia and New Zealand. All of our publicly available government submissions can be found at suncorpgroup.com.au/news/public-submissions

We continue to work through our industry associations including the Australian Banking Association (ABA), the Insurance Council of Australia (ICA), the Insurance Council of New Zealand, and the Financial Services Council in Australia and New Zealand, to address systemic issues, improve standards and ensure better outcomes for our customers and stakeholders.

Our engagement with government and industry this year focused on the following issues

COVID-19 pandemic: Suncorp worked through our industry associations – the ABA and ICA – to develop and implement support packages for our small business banking and insurance customers impacted by COVID-19. We also worked with the relevant authorities to allow our impacted wealth customers access to their superannuation under the Australian Government's early release of superannuation initiative.

Royal Commission into Banking, Superannuation and Financial Services Industry: Suncorp is well progressed in implementing the Royal Commission reforms relevant to our business and customers. During the year, Suncorp provided input into the Australian Government's consultation on Royal Commission recommendations – including those relating to the hawking of financial products, claims handling as a financial service, deferred sales models and the enforceability of industry codes.

During 2019–20, Suncorp executives appeared before the House of Representatives Standing Committee on Economics as part of its Review of the Four Major Banks and other Financial Institutions. Our former CEO Banking & Wealth appeared in November 2019 and former CEO Insurance in April 2020.

Insurance affordability: Suncorp continues to advocate for measures that will improve the affordability and accessibility of insurance, especially for those who live in areas of high natural disaster risk. During the year we continued to participate in the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission's Northern Australia Insurance Inquiry process. We also made submissions to the Royal Commission into National Natural Disaster Arrangements, the NSW Government's Independent Bushfire Inquiry, the Victorian Inspector-General for Emergency Management's Inquiry into the 2019–20 Victorian Fire Season, and the Senate Finance and Public Administration References Committee's Inquiry into Lessons to be learned in relation to the 2019–20 bushfire season.

Increasing competition in the banking sector: Suncorp, along with other regional banks, continues to advocate for greater competition in the Australian banking sector. We believe addressing the structural inequalities faced by smaller banks in the banking system will help to improve competition and provide better access to banking products for all consumers.

Compulsory third-party (CTP) scheme reform: We continue to advocate for better insurance cover for consumers and fairer competition in CTP schemes across the country. Scheme reform allowed competitive underwriting with a limited number of insurers in South Australia from 1 July 2019, with AAMI quickly establishing a market-leading position. In the Australian Capital Territory, a new scheme that offers insurance cover for all people injured in motor accidents was approved for implementation from 1 February 2020, providing treatment, care and income benefits for up to five years. We continue to push for reform that will provide coverage for all Queenslanders injured in motor accidents through engagement with the government and other stakeholders. In New South Wales we work with the government to ensure the stability of the scheme and improve customer outcomes.

New industry codes: Suncorp was actively involved in updating the Banking and General Insurance Codes of Practice in Australia. We implemented the updated ABA Banking Code of Practice on 1 July 2019 and have continued to enhance processes, products and services to provide greater rights and protections to our customers. The transition to the 2020 General Insurance Code of Practice commenced on 1 January 2020. Implementation of new requirements regarding vulnerable customers and financial hardship was brought forward to 1 July 2020, to assist customers impacted by COVID-19. Suncorp is on track to implement the new requirements in accordance with the required timeframes.

Responsible financial services

We put our customers at the heart of everything we do and help them make good choices. We provide customers with access to affordable financial services that meet their needs.

OUR APPROACH

Suncorp takes its responsibility as an essential services provider seriously. We are committed to being responsive and providing suitable, fair and affordable products and services that meet the needs of our customers and help build their financial resilience. We grow our business inclusively and serve the whole community.

UNDERSTANDING WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS VALUE

Delivering value and meeting the needs of our customers consistently through quality, personalised services is core to Suncorp's strategy. Each day we play an important role in our customers' lives, helping them build - and sometimes rebuild - their futures, and protect what matters. We are focused on gaining a better understanding of what our customers need and expect from us as at every interaction and conduct more than one million surveys each year to gather feedback on their experiences with us. We also track how likely it is for them to recommend our brands via the Net Promoter Score (NPS) survey. The insights we receive help us to improve our products and services to better meet our customers' needs and determine where controls need to be in place to ensure mistakes are not repeated.

INVESTING IN DIGITAL AND DATA CAPABILITY

Suncorp is adapting to the changing landscape and consumer expectations by investing in technology such as artificial intelligence (AI), robotics and telematics to improve access, quality, simplicity, personalisation, design and delivery of products and services for our customers. We are prioritising digital initiatives for our customers, and designing simpler, more efficient processes for our business. We leverage comprehensive security capabilities to protect customers from cybercrime, and use data to proactively support our customers, including those at risk of hardship. Our Data Ethics Principles guide our use of data.

RESPONDING IN TIMES OF NEED

This year Suncorp responded to large-scale natural disasters including the Australian bushfires, floods and storms, and the COVID-19 pandemic, which together have seen many of our customers and communities impacted throughout the year. Suncorp remains committed to supporting both their immediate needs and long-term recovery.

COVID-19 PANDEMIC

As the COVID-19 pandemic emerged, Suncorp quickly evolved its ways of working, activating its business continuity plan to protect its people, customers and business. New solutions and a suite of support packages were offered to ensure customers remain protected and their financial needs are met during these challenging circumstances. As at 30 June 2020, we provided discounts and premium waivers to 11,000 home insurance customers and 20,000 motor insurance customers, and supported 14,400 home and business loan customers under temporary deferral arrangements. In early June, the Bank commenced three-month check-ins with impacted home loan customers and by 31 July 2020, approximately 51 per cent of accounts receiving temporary deferral arrangements were returning to normal repayments. As at 30 June 2020, the Wealth business had facilitated approximately $99 million of early superannuation payments to around 13,000 members. As at 31 July, a further $66 million of early superannuation payments had been facilitated to 8,300 members. More than 38,000 online applications for hardship and support were received from customers. We work closely with consumer advocates to assist customers whom have suddenly found themselves in a vulnerable position, many for the first time in their lives.

AUSTRALIAN BUSHFIRE CRISIS

The bushfire crisis over the Australian summer saw widespread destruction across the country, impacting Suncorp customers, employees and communities. Suncorp's national resources, including support teams, assessors and builders, were deployed to affected communities as soon as it was safe to do so, with measures put in place to assist our banking and insurance customers, including financial relief and on-the-ground claims support. We provided wellbeing support for our people and introduced paid emergency volunteer leave for those assisting as part of the volunteer group relief efforts.

While the COVID-19 pandemic added to the challenges faced by bushfire-affected customers, we have maintained our focus in getting them back on their feet as quickly as possible. We implemented WebChat capabilities, extended online claims functionality, used drones to complete roof inspections and offered virtual claims assessments for commercial and consumer property customers to keep the process moving while protecting the health and safety of all involved.

As at 30 June 2020, Suncorp Group had completed 88 per cent of home and 86 per cent of motor insurance claims for customers impacted by the summer bushfires.

IMPROVING OUR BUSINESS PRACTICES

In 2019–20, we transitioned to the improved General Insurance Code of Practice and made further enhancements in the Bank to support customers and commenced implementation of our Responsible Banking & Insurance Policy.

Insurance

Suncorp worked closely with the Insurance Council of Australia to shape the updated General Insurance Code of Practice and led the industry in implementing improvements ahead of the 1 July deadline. Key improvements include:

- transparency of premium changes for retail and small business customers and simpler communications that help consumers understand any changes in their policies and premiums
- enhanced support for customers experiencing vulnerability and hardship through process improvements, system updates and specialist training for our teams, suppliers and distributors
- launch of a Domestic and Family Violence statement that includes greater protections for survivors with measures to protect the contact details and addresses for joint policy holders and the garaged address of any mobile assets held by the survivor
- specialist support services for customers who are subject to domestic and family violence, including fairer claims outcomes for those impacted by violence, addictions or mental illness.

Bank

Following implementation of the Australian Banking Association's Banking Code of Practice (Code) on 1 July 2019, Suncorp has continued to enhance its processes, products and services to provide greater financial protections to our customers. During 2019-20 Suncorp:

- ceased charging default interest on agricultural loans while farmers are affected by drought or natural disaster
- extended protections to small business loan guarantors and clarified the restrictions on non-monetary defaults on small business loans
- removed fees relating to informal overdrafts and dishonoured transactions on basic, low fee or no fee accounts for concession card holders, with basic accounts unable to become overdrawn in most situations
- removed account-keeping fees associated with personal and business deposit accounts.

Supporting Customers Experiencing Vulnerability

This year, Suncorp made solid progress in improving support for customers experiencing vulnerability, a core element of our Financial Inclusion Action Plan and a focus for recent industry code of practice updates following the Royal Commission.

To support the implementation of Suncorp's Responsible Banking & Insurance Policy, a Customer Vulnerability Standard and supporting guidelines were developed to help our teams navigate complex issues facing customers including financial hardship, domestic and family violence, scams and fraud, and financial elder abuse. Our guidelines and information on financial hardship, domestic and family violence and general support services for customers in need is available on our brand websites.

We continued to build awareness and capability across our workforce through our dedicated vulnerability training, with more than 11,000 employees, suppliers and distributors trained to date. This year, all New Zealand employees completed the vulnerability awareness training, with advanced training undertaken by customer facing teams and key leaders. A centralised Community of Practice was established to share learnings and build knowledge and skills about specific areas of vulnerability, with expert coaching sessions delivered to provide deeper insights into complex issues.

Our dedicated customer vulnerability specialist teams assisted more than 2,000 insurance and banking customers, providing flexible, tailored, end-to-end case management for customers requiring additional support, including referral to qualified social workers and specialist services. This year Suncorp's Office of the Customer Advocate reviewed 68 complex customer cases that were escalated to them.

Complaints management

Despite increased numbers of insurance claims as a result of the Australian bushfires, floods and storms, and the ongoing financial pressures of drought and impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic, Suncorp maintained its focus on delivering better customer experience and complaint service levels, resolving 95 per cent of our complaints received by our customer-facing teams within five business days. The New Zealand business used analysis of external dispute resolution outcomes and industry themes to strengthen its complaints reporting.

Suncorp is investing in an enterprise-wide approach to complaints management, including improved systems and capability building across the Group to enhance the quality of our controls and data and the delivery of timely and meaningful outcomes for our customers.

INVESTING IN DIGITAL AND DATA

This year, Suncorp advanced its digital capability and experience for customers, with the COVID-19 pandemic prompting fast-tracking of digital solutions. We introduced a dedicated digital hub for those impacted by the pandemic, delivered an automated online application process for customers to make hardship applications, and extended the capabilities of WebChat and our intelligent virtual assistants to respond to customer queries.

Our ongoing investment in automation boosted our ability to deliver in a consistent and timely manner for our customers and meet their increased demand for digital solutions. These measures also enhanced our support for customers impacted by bushfires and storms across Australia. At the height of the bushfire and storm season, almost 34 per cent of claims were made online. This year, digital self-service transactions increased by 25 per cent year on year, and claims lodged online increased by 19 per cent.

This year, a retirement simulator digital tool was introduced for current and future superannuation customers to assess their retirement outcomes and develop appropriate superannuation strategies. We also introduced an online tool to help members better understand the impacts of any early release of superannuation on their balance.

Suncorp continued to invest in AI and machine learning to help inform accurate pricing for its insurance products, including advanced modelling for bushfires, storms and cyclones.

Engagement and advocacy: building financial resilience and advocating for things that matter

Suncorp participates in a wide range of industry roundtables and community forums to share best practice and discuss solutions. This year we hosted events to hear important insights from consumer advocates and our customers.

We also advocated for greater awareness and measures to protect customers against scams and worked to build the financial resilience of our community.

Consumer Advocate Day 2020

In March 2020, Suncorp hosted its annual Consumer Advocate Day in Melbourne with more than 35 consumer advocates representing a wide range of community groups in attendance. The event provided an opportunity for two-way dialogue between Suncorp leaders and consumer advocates, who share important insights into the issues impacting people in the communities we serve. Hosted by Suncorp's Group Customer Advocate and attended by Suncorp's senior executives, this year the discussions centred on protection for customers experiencing vulnerability, regulatory reform and the impacts of climate change.

Driving industry change to address scams

To better protect our customers against the rise of scams in Australia, this year Suncorp took the lead in the banking sector to work with Queensland University of Technology's (QUT) School of Justice and Dr Cassandra Cross, an expert in the field of fraud and scams. Suncorp and QUT hosted a Scam Prevention Workshop that brought together more than 50 experts from across the justice, finance and government sectors to explore the impact scams have on Australians and how we can work together to better protect customers from the threat of this criminal activity. Learn more at suncorpgroup.com.au/news/community/suncorp-qut-scam-prevention-workshop

Collaborating for Financial Inclusion

Suncorp is an active member of the Financial Inclusion Action Plan initiative and Thriving Communities Partnership (TCP), both aimed at bringing together government, community and businesses to help drive greater inclusion, support and financial wellbeing for all Australians.

Strengthening access to essential services

Suncorp's AAMI brand has partnered on the development of a new initiative with Global Sisters, a not-for-profit organisation that supports women who are often financially excluded to become financially independent. Together we have tailored the AAMI products to be suitable for micro enterprises requiring a simple, low cost insurance solution. The product enables 'Sisters' within the community to access public and product liability, and property cover for business equipment and stock, as they build their enterprises. It includes lower priced premiums, one excess-free claim per period of insurance, and a dedicated support team to help eligible customers through the process. The offering will help remove some of the barriers that have prevented this community from accessing business insurance and achieving financial independence in the past.

Suncorp also joined forces with Thriving Communities Partnership to release the research report: Disaster Planning and Recovery Collaborative Research Project. The report focuses on the experiences of people and local businesses in Townsville immediately following the devastating North Queensland Monsoon Disaster in 2019. The community's experiences post event will assist in forming a valuable understanding of how different interactions with essential services and other organisations can vitally affect people's recovery following a crisis. Read the report at thriving.org.au/what-we-do/disaster-planning-and-recovery

Financial education for our newest Queenslanders

This year Suncorp continued to work in partnership with Multicultural Australia to build the financial resilience of refugees and new migrants living in Queensland. We piloted a financial literacy program with 39 clients in Toowoomba and Brisbane, which was adapted for their needs and designed to help them navigate financial services in Australia.

Building financial fitness in New Zealand

This year Suncorp New Zealand worked with ANZ to host more than 110 of our people at a series of Financial Fitness workshops, designed to help them better understand and manage their financial future. In addition, Suncorp New Zealand participated in the Insurance Council of New Zealand's annual Insurance Day event during Money Week, spending the day with 40 Pasifika school students to help them learn about risk and how insurance can help protect people.

Our progress

Suncorp continues to proactively address climate-related risks and opportunities and embed environmental, social and governance considerations across our value chain.

CLIMATE-RELATED FINANCIAL DISCLOSURES

Suncorp continues to integrate climate change considerations into governance, risk management and strategy processes in line with the Financial Stability Board's Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures framework (TCFD), to which Suncorp became a signatory in 2018.

This year Suncorp further investigated the emergence of climate-related risks and opportunities through scenario analysis of different emission concentration pathways and at fixed points in time. A copy of our full TCFD report is available at suncorpgroup.com.au/corporate-responsibility/reports.

REDUCING ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACTS

This year Suncorp continued to reduce operational emissions and waste, set renewable energy targets and refreshed our Environmental Performance Plan (EPP) for our Australian and New Zealand operations. This three-year plan set our priorities in becoming a low-emissions and resource-efficient organisation focusing on:

- Reducing emissions: We are accelerating efforts to reduce Suncorp's emissions and overall costs, aligned with global action on climate change
- Reducing waste: We are developing a group-wide approach to resource efficiency and measurement which minimises waste and maximises opportunities for reuse and recycling

- Creating a sustainable workplace: We are developing programs and inspiring spaces that engage and enable our people to have a positive environmental impact.

This year we partnered with our suppliers on sustainability innovation: with our fleet vehicle provider to switch to fuel-efficient hybrid cars and use telematics to encourage good driving behaviours; our building managers to install rooftop solar in two locations; and our event venues to reduce waste. We worked with Qantas Future Planet to make our annual Business Leaders' Summit carbon neutral and Simply Cups to introduce coffee cup recycling at all major commercial offices.

To fulfil our target to reduce emissions by 51 per cent by 2030, we developed a Renewable Energy Strategy which saw Suncorp join RE100 and commit to purchasing 100 per cent renewable electricity by 2025.

BUILDING NATURAL HAZARD RESILIENCE

Suncorp continues to help our customers and communities be aware, protected, and prepared for natural disasters, and to better adapt to our changing climate. We do this through our advocacy and collaboration with key industry, government and community stakeholders and through products that recognise and reward customers' own resilience building. Suncorp's Natural Hazard Resilience Program focuses on:

- Deepening climate change and natural hazard risk insights and risk intelligence
- Engaging with stakeholders and contributing to the development of community-level risk reduction
- Extending our capability and product solutions.

During the year, Suncorp partnered with researchers to deepen climate change and natural hazard risk insights to enable stronger risk selection and pricing. We were a leading voice in advocating for greater government investment in infrastructure to protect communities from natural hazards. Through our Storm Ready Streets program we worked with community partners to raise awareness of natural disaster risk and rewarded Queensland households, residents and businesses that actively prepared for extreme weather. We continued to offer our Cyclone Resilience Benefit to homeowners, with 45,749 customers receiving insurance premium reductions.

RESPONSIBLE UNDERWRITING, LENDING AND INVESTMENT

Sensitive Sector Guidelines

In 2020, we strengthened our Fossil Fuels Sensitive Sector Guideline to cease underwriting, financing or directly investing in new oil and gas projects, phase out underwriting and financing oil and gas by 2025, and directly investing by 2040. This builds on our commitment to phase out of existing thermal coal by 2025.

Under Suncorp's Responsible Investment Policy, our external investment managers are required to apply a shadow carbon price to their analysis of investment opportunities to manage the risk of stranded assets as we transition to a net-zero emissions economy.

As at 30 June 2020, fossil fuel extraction and electricity generation activities made up less than 0.1 per cent of general insurance gross written premium. Fossil fuel exposure is less than 0.5 per cent of our insurance and shareholder investment assets, and less than 1.5 per cent of total investment assets under management (i.e. inclusive of wealth and investment assets managed on behalf of third parties).

Suncorp's commercial lending portfolio has no exposure to fossil fuels via either extraction or power generation. Suncorp will continue to underwrite, lend to and invest in companies whose business is clearly consistent with the transition to a net-zero emissions economy by 2050.

Under our Tobacco and Controversial Weapons Guidelines, we continued to exclude tobacco, recreational cannabis, land mines, cluster munitions, biological and chemical weapons from our investment portfolios.

Our Responsible Investment Policy commitments to uphold the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights also saw several companies excluded from our investment portfolios. As a result of improvements in eliminating human rights abuses in supply chains and through the Responsible Cobalt Initiative in particular, the exclusion of some companies was lifted this year, although much work remains in eliminating child labour and forced labour from value chains.

Impact investing

In support of our Responsible Investment Policy, Suncorp proactively seeks opportunities to engage in social impact investing that meets both our investment and social impact assessment criteria. In 2019–20, Suncorp expanded its social impact investments by becoming one of the first investors in the Synergis Disability Housing Fund, which aims to address the substantial undersupply of housing for people living with a disability. It's estimated that 12,000 National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) participants currently have no access to much-needed specialist disability housing.

We remain committed to investments in renewable energy infrastructure and low-carbon solutions that deliver both financial and environmental outcomes. During the year, Suncorp's $15 million commitment to the Palisade Renewable Energy Fund became fully drawn down. Palisade completed the development of a large-scale solar energy project in Townsville and progressed the Granville Harbour wind project in Tasmania. As at 30 June 2020, Suncorp's investment in low-carbon solutions was $236 million.

The transition to a net-zero emissions economy offers increased opportunity for low-carbon investment. Suncorp actively participates in a global working group with the Science Based Targets to develop standards for the measurement of Scope 3 carbon emissions in the financial sector.

Proxy Voting Governance

Suncorp is committed to ensuring all proxies are voted in a manner consistent with Suncorp's Responsible Investment Policy and Corporate Responsibility Principles.

In 2019–20, Suncorp undertook a continuous improvement-focused review of our Proxy Voting Principles, with a strengthened commitment to the independence of the Chair, properly constituted polling on substantial matters, and communication about the Principles that will guide how we vote on shareholder sponsored resolutions. We also finalised and published our Proxy Voting Summary, which includes our Principles. This year, Suncorp voted all eligible proxy resolutions, voting at 336 meetings on 2,766 resolutions in 21 countries.

Since becoming a signatory to the Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI) in 2019, Suncorp completed its first PRI Transparency Report this year, available at unpri.org/signatory-directory/suncorp-group/4682.article.

RESPONSIBLE SUPPLY CHAIN

Addressing modern slavery

Suncorp continues to proactively respond to the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth), by identifying and managing the direct and indirect risk of human rights abuses, such as modern slavery and child labour, throughout our value chain. This includes our people, our customers, suppliers and their workforces, as well as monitoring financial transactions and reporting any suspicions of criminal activity associated with them.

In 2019–20, Suncorp commenced the inclusion of modern slavery risks and controls into existing systems and processes with initial focus on procurement, outsourcing and investments. We engaged human rights specialists to lead modern slavery training for key teams across our business to drive awareness about the issue and legislation, and build capability in identifying, managing, mitigating and reporting risks of modern slavery. We also participated in the development of the ABA's Modern Slavery guidance for member banks. Suncorp has developed processes to identify and improve how we operate and partner to reduce instances of modern slavery. Suncorp is establishing modern slavery contract clauses in all new supplier agreements, including a requirement for key suppliers to complete annual statements of exposure and risk management.

Suncorp will publish a Modern Slavery Statement in 2020–21 and report on how we are identifying and addressing the risks of modern slavery in our operations and supply chain, across Australia and New Zealand.

Resilient people and communities

We respect human rights and invest in the wellbeing and resilience of our people and communities. We are there for our people and our communities in times of need.

Our approach

Suncorp is committed to building the financial, social and natural hazard resilience of our people and communities. We aspire to have an inclusive culture and diverse workforce. We support our people in the causes they care about and actively promote their involvement in the community.

INVESTING IN THE COMMUNITY

We work in partnership with a range of community organisations and encourage our employees to be active in the community through our Brighter Futures employee giving program which promotes relationship-building, giving and volunteering opportunities, with matched-giving by Suncorp.

RESPECTING HUMAN RIGHTS

Suncorp remains committed to human rights and is a signatory to the United Nations Global Compact which commits to supporting and protecting human rights, eliminating all forms of forced and compulsory labour and the effective abolition of child labour. Suncorp's Responsible Banking and Insurance Policy, Responsible Investment Policy, Code of Conduct and Supplier Code of Practice help us operationalise our human rights commitments.

FOSTERING FLEXIBILITY, INCLUSION AND DIVERSITY

At Suncorp, we build inclusion by providing an environment where everyone can be themselves and feel valued, involved and respected for their perspectives and contribution. Flexibility is an important part of Suncorp's culture and even before COVID-19 more than 80 per cent of our workforce took advantage of flexible working practices on a regular basis. As a result, Suncorp has a more engaged workforce, reduced absenteeism and workplace stress, and a greater ability to respond to the changing environment.

Our progress

Suncorp is building resilience for the major changes our people and communities face. This includes preparing for the workforce of the future, driving an inclusive and diverse workplace, and investing in the financial, social and natural hazard resilience of our customers and the community.

BUILDING A PURPOSE-DRIVEN CULTURE

During 2019–20, we refreshed our purpose to clearly articulate why we exist: building futures and protecting what matters. Suncorp's culture reflects the commitment of our people and is centred on three key principles:

Doing the right thing: We are a high-performing team that prioritises honest and fair conduct. We manage risks while delivering results.

Caring for others: We are collaborative, inclusive and we care about our customers, our people and the communities in which we operate. We are supportive of each other to safely achieve our goals.

Being courageous: We are purpose-led and embrace accountability. We are customer-driven and adapt to evolving stakeholder needs, speaking up when it's needed.

This year 81 per cent of Suncorp's employees participated in our engagement and culture survey with our engagement score lifting to 67 per cent. Our people highlighted strengths such as our flexible and inclusive work environment, our customer-centric culture and genuine care displayed by our leaders for their teams, while greater focus is needed on supporting our people through change and innovation and ensuring the right resources are available to achieve the best outcomes.

LEADING OUR PEOPLE THROUGH CHANGE

As a large employer, Suncorp supports our workforce to build the skills needed to succeed in the future, ensuring they have the right capabilities to thrive in the economy of the future. Our learnings in responding to the COVID-19 pandemic are informing our workforce planning and new ways of working, so we are in the best possible shape as we emerge from the crisis.

Staying connected through COVID-19

The health and safety of our people and our customers is our priority. We moved the majority of Suncorp's workforce to work from home as the COVID-19 pandemic emerged, using our digital capabilities and well-established flexible working arrangements. We rapidly deployed computer equipment, remote access and digital licences to ensure our people were properly equipped, could continue to work and serve our customers, and felt connected and supported. We implemented new social distancing protocols and hygiene practices, especially for our store teams who continued to serve our customers in our retail locations. We deployed a wide range of leadership and resilience tools and training, regular pulse-checks on the wellbeing and safety of our people, and new digital communication channels to keep our people informed.

Workforce of the future

Suncorp's Future Ready learning program supports our people to manage their career and build skills for the future working environment. In 2019–20, more than 1,100 employees participated in Introductory Pathways and Accelerated Pathways for eight key capabilities. Future Ready has also hosted 50 Thrive personal resilience workshops and 30 My Future Career workshops.

COMMUNITY INVESTMENT

In 2019–20 Suncorp invested $10.3 million in our communities. This includes $4.4million in strategic community partnerships, $1.3 million in support for communities impacted by COVID-19, $1 million in matching for employee giving and $1.8 million in other vital cash contributions.

TOTAL COMMUNITY INVESTMENT $10, 317, 049

Bushfire relief and recovery

Suncorp donated $560,000 to support the immediate and long-term needs of communities affected by the 2019–20 bushfires across Australia. More than 2,000 Suncorp employees donated $80,000 of their own money which was double matched by Suncorp. Teams also volunteered to pack food hampers which provided relief to firefighters on the frontline. Suncorp introduced unlimited paid emergency response leave for employees who are members of volunteer organisations, to ease the financial challenges for those who volunteer during an emergency or natural disaster. Suncorp also offers several other flexible leave options and counselling for employees who live in bushfire-affected areas.

- $100k to the Australian Red Cross
- $100k to volunteer firefighting organisations in New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland and Western Australia

Supporting our communities through COVID-19

As a result of COVID-19, Suncorp donated $1 million to The Smith Family in Australia to help combat the growing digital divide being faced by vulnerable school students and families. The donation saw 650 digital inclusion packs delivered to kids in need across the country, giving them access to a device, the internet and support they need to remain connected to their teachers and classmates. Suncorp New Zealand donated NZ$100,000 to Shine to help children affected by domestic violence stay connected with their schools and online learning.

We adapted the way we engage our customers through our partnership with Netball Australia providing virtual netball clinics for young Australians, and through our partnership with Financial Basics Foundation to provide free access to the financial literacy program Suncorp ESSI Money Challenge.

Local charity partnerships

This year, Suncorp employees selected 14 local charities to partner with across Australia and New Zealand to address issues they care most about in the communities where they live and work. These charities provide support for those experiencing mental health issues, homelessness, family violence, cancer, childhood illness, and drought.

Measuring social impact

This year Suncorp commissioned a review of current research on the most effective interventions for building the social, financial and natural hazard resilience of individuals and communities. This will inform the development of Suncorp's theory of change and impact measurement framework and provide Suncorp and its community partners a consistent approach to enhance the measurement of outcomes achieved for individuals and communities.

Case Study

This year Suncorp employees raised more than $1 million for important causes – and Suncorp matched it, bringing the total to more than $2 million. Read more at suncorpgroup.com.au/news/news/suncorp-matches-1-million-in-employee-giving

INCLUSION AND DIVERSITY

Advancing Reconciliation

This year, Suncorp strengthened its partnership with Clontarf Foundation, hosting career exposure days and work experience opportunities to improve education and employment outcomes for young Indigenous men. Suncorp attended Clontarf's employment forums where students broaden their horizons, learn new skills and discover a range of career options. Suncorp leaders also participated in immersive cultural experiences with the Clontarf Academies, deepening their understanding of the work Clontarf does to prepare students for transition from school to employment. Suncorp employed a Clontarf Foundation graduate into its store network this year.

Cultural diversity

Through Suncorp's partnership with Multicultural Australia, more than 56 employees participated cultural awareness training, cultural immersion, career mentoring and volunteering opportunities, which all help our people to better serve our diverse customers and work within diverse teams. We also supported employment pathways for Multicultural Australia's clients through job readiness and career mentoring sessions delivered to more than 400 people this year.

Awards

This year, Suncorp's partnership with Multicultural Australia received the Minister's Choice Award for Outstanding Engagement at the Multicultural Queensland Awards for its contributions to promoting diversity and inclusion. Suncorp New Zealand was awarded the Excellence in Workplace Diversity and Inclusion from the Australia and New Zealand Institute of Insurance and Finance.

Employee Resource Groups

Suncorp's Employee Resource Groups (ERGs) are networks created by our people, for our people. They foster a diverse and inclusive workplace and bring employees together around a common purpose, interest or background. This year Suncorp formed two new ERGs:

enAble was formed to support people with disability and accessibility requirements. It empowers members to achieve their best, showcase their abilities, helping to improve the experience for people with disabilities at Suncorp.

ARISE was formed to advocate for ethnic diversity within Suncorp and to ensure our teams at all levels reflect the communities in which we operate.

Suncorp's existing ERGs span Veterans, Reserves and Defence Families; Women Connect; Evolve; Life-X for mature-age workers and Amplify; Suncorp's LGBTIQ+ community and their allies.

Gender equality

Suncorp continues to take great pride in being an industry leader for workplace gender equality, with a focus not just on leadership roles but all levels across our organisation. In 2019-20, Suncorp was recognised as an Employer of Choice for Gender Equality by the Workplace Gender Equality Agency for the seventh consecutive year.

Gender pay equity review

Following ongoing role pay equity and gender pay equity gap analysis conducted across the organisation, this year Suncorp introduced a target to reduce the gender pay gap by five percentage points over five years. Suncorp actively reviews role pay equity throughout the year and actions any issues identified through our remuneration review process.
