

Chief Financial Officer Resignation

14 October 2024 – Ansell Limited (ASX:ANN, Ansell or the Company) announces that its Chief Financial Officer (CFO) Zubair Javeed has given notice of his intention to resign from his position during the second quarter of calendar year 2025.

Ansell’s Managing Director and CEO Neil Salmon acknowledged Mr. Javeed’s strong leadership and financial acumen during his five years with the Company.

Mr. Salmon stated, “Zubair has been instrumental in positioning Ansell on a path for sustained profitable growth. He has played a key leadership role in driving supply chain improvements, our productivity program and most recently the successful acquisition and integration of the Kimberly-Clark PPE business and I am confident we will see continued success from these and other initiatives. I am very grateful for Zubair’s significant contribution to Ansell and I know he will continue to play a key role in driving us forward during his remaining time at Ansell.”

The Company has engaged an international search firm to support the identification of the new CFO while Mr. Javeed remains in the role to ensure a seamless and efficient transition.

This announcement has been authorised for release by Nigel Garrard, Chair of the Ansell Limited Board.
