Letter to Shareholders

21 November 2024

Dear Shareholder

On behalf of the Directors, I am pleased to invite you, as a Shareholder of AnteoTech Ltd (AnteoTech or the Company), to participate in AnteoTech's recently announced 1 for 10 non-renounceable entitlement offer of new AnteoTech ordinary shares (New Shares). New Shares are offered at an issue price of 2.0 cents per New Share to raise up to approximately $5 million (before costs) (Entitlement Offer).

As announced on 13 November 2024, the Company has received firm commitments of $3.5 million under a placement to institutional and professional investors (Placement) at an issue price of 2.0 cents per Share. At the same time the Company announced its intention to undertake this Entitlement Offer at the same price for New Shares as the Placement shares. The record date for determining entitlements under this Entitlement Offer occurred prior to the date the Placement shares were issued, thus excluding Placement shares from the Entitlement Offer.

Completion of the Placement strengthens the Company's balance sheet at a critical juncture, adding approximately $3.26 million net of transaction costs, with a further $2.45 million received last week under the R&D Tax Incentive scheme. Our key focus with this funding plus the proceeds from the Entitlement Offer is to progress near term commercial opportunities with our electric vehicle and battery customers as well as advancing development of our proprietary high silicon anode product or Ultranode™. We believe we are close to further commercial success.

This Entitlement Offer also includes the ability for eligible shareholders who take up their full entitlement to apply for additional New Shares under a Shortfall Facility and further increase their investment in New Shares, should they choose. Details of the Entitlement Offer and Shortfall Facility are summarised below and detailed in the Offer Booklet.

Rationale for the Entitlement Offer and the Placement

AnteoTech achieved a number of milestones in the last year as we continued to progress from a research based organisation to an early commercialisation company. These achievements position us well for commercial success in the coming year, following an overhaul of our operations to remove $3.3 million of annual costs, while completing our pilot plant facility and resolving the Ferroglobe litigation.

We have now assembled technical data to demonstrate and validate the benefits, including cost savings and improved performance, of our core proprietary clean energy products, Anteo X™ and Ultranode™. Our data has been reviewed by independent technical experts including for the Australian Renewable Energy Agency (ARENA), who awarded AnteoTech $3.99 million in funding for our generation 2 Ultranode™ program. The ARENA funding along with $1.39 million from the Queensland Critical Minerals & Battery Technology Fund (CMBT Fund), brings the total non-dilutive funding secured to $5.38 million.

In the future, we believe that our focused, sales driven approach and our depth of technical data to support the value proposition of our products is a key to our commercial success, across both clean energy and life sciences. We have now generated our first clean energy revenues through the sale of Anteo X™ and recently secured our first sale of our 70% silicon content Ultranode™ to Mercedes Benz, a major electric vehicle manufacturer. Our work with Mercedes Benz now includes their ongoing evaluation of both Anteo X™ and Ultranode™.

We are also at evaluation stage with two other major electric vehicle manufacturers, and we have commercial projects underway with multiple parties in the battery, advanced chemical, and consumer electronics sectors, for applications including wearable batteries and power tool battery packs.

Our strategy in this highly competitive market is to focus on our high priority customers and support their engagement, validation and internal optimisation projects, with dedicated AnteoTech project teams.

We also believe there is strong interest in our Ultranode™ and we must continue to invest to accelerate that development work and maintain our competitive position.

We undertook the Placement and launched this Entitlement Offer in order to raise the capital needed to enable the Company to continue with these planned activities and initiatives. The funds raised will be used to support our international Clean Energy Technology sales and marketing activities and associated customer optimisation projects through new dedicated resources. We will also apply funds to ongoing Ultranode™ development work and the capital expenditure we will incur before being reimbursed by ARENA or the CMBT Fund.

Pleasingly, our life sciences activities are generating the early revenue opportunities we had aimed for, including under the US$1.8 million take or pay contract with the Serum Institute of India, one of the world's largest manufacturers of vaccines.

As we strive for commercial progress, we seek to build shareholder value as customers purchase our products, contribute to our development services and potentially become strategic partners.

1.11 New Zealand

In making this offer to Eligible Shareholders in New Zealand, the Company is relying on the Financial Markets Conduct (Incidental Offers) Exemption Notice 2021. This Offer Booklet has been prepared in compliance with Australian law and has not been registered, filed with or approved by any New Zealand regulatory authority. This Offer Booklet is not a product disclosure statement under New Zealand law and is not required to, and may not, contain all the information that a product disclosure statement under New Zealand law is required to contain.

2. How to Apply

2.1 Your choices as an Eligible Shareholder

The number of New Shares to which each Eligible Shareholder is entitled (Entitlement) is calculated as at the Record Date and is shown on their personalised Entitlement and Acceptance Form.

Eligible Shareholders may:

- (a) take up their Entitlement in full (refer to Section 2.2);
- (b) apply for their Entitlement in full and also additional New Shares under the Shortfall Facility (refer to Section 2.3);
- (c) take up part of their Entitlement, in which case the balance of the Entitlement would lapse (refer to Section 2.4); or
- (d) allow their Entitlement to lapse (refer to Section 2.5).

The Company reserves the right to reject any Application that is not correctly completed or that is received after the Closing Date. The Closing Date for acceptance of the Entitlement Offer is 5.00pm (AEDT) on 9 December 2024 (unless extended).

2.2 Taking up your Entitlement in full

If you wish to take up your Entitlement in full, follow the instructions set out on the Entitlement and Acceptance Form.

2.3 Taking up your Entitlement in full and apply for additional New Shares

If you wish to take up your Entitlement in full, you may also wish to apply for additional New Shares under the Shortfall Facility to a maximum of 500% of your Entitlement. If you do so, you must pay the total number of New Shares you apply for multiplied by the Offer Price. See Section 1.3 concerning the Shortfall Facility.

2.4 Taking up part of your Entitlement and allowing the balance to lapse

If you wish to take up part only of your Entitlement, multiply the number of New Shares you wish to take up by the Offer Price.

2.5 Allowing your entitlement to lapse

If you do not wish to accept all or any part of your Entitlement, do not take any further action and that part of your Entitlement will lapse.

2.6 Payment

The consideration for the New Shares is payable in full on application by a payment of 2.0 cents per New Share. Any fractional amounts will be rounded up to the nearest whole number.

For shareholders resident in Australia, you must pay for the New Shares by BPAY following the instructions on the Entitlement and Acceptance Form. Please provide payment for the exact amount. If you do not provide the exact amount the Company will issue New Shares based on the amount you have provided (and if necessary return a portion of your funds). As payment is made through BPAY, you do not need to return the Entitlement and Acceptance Form.

For shareholders in New Zealand you may also pay for New Shares by electronic funds transfer (or by BPAY for those shareholders that have an Australian bank account). Shareholders who pay by electronic funds transfer must complete and return the Entitlement and Acceptance Form in accordance with the instructions on that document once their funds have been paid by electronic funds transfer. You must use your HIN/SRN as the reference/description of your payment otherwise your payment will not be accepted.

Your payment must be received by no later than 5.00pm (AEDT) on Monday 9 December 2024 (unless extended).

Eligible Shareholders must not forward cash by mail. Receipts for payment will not be issued.

2.7 Binding effect of payment

A payment made through BPAY or electronic funds transfer, constitutes a binding offer to acquire New Shares on the terms and conditions set out in this Offer Booklet and, once lodged or paid, cannot be withdrawn. If an Entitlement and Acceptance Form is not completed correctly it may still be treated as a valid application for New Shares. The Directors' decision whether to treat an Acceptance as valid and how to construe, amend or complete the Entitlement and Acceptance Form is final.

By making payment you will also be deemed to have acknowledged, represented and warranted on behalf of each person on whose account you are acting that:

- (a) you are an Eligible Shareholder and are not in the United States and are not a person (including nominees or custodians) acting for the account or benefit of a person in the United States and are not otherwise a person to whom it would be illegal to make an offer or issue New Shares under the Entitlement Offer;
- (b) you acknowledge that the New Shares have not been, and will not be, registered under the US Securities Act or under the laws of any other jurisdiction outside the prescribed jurisdiction (if registration is required); and
- (c) you have not and will not send any materials relating to the Entitlement Offer to any person in the United States or to any person (including nominees or custodians) acting for the account or benefit of a person in the United States.

3. Capital Structure

3.1 Capital structure

Subject to rounding up of fractional Entitlements and assuming none of the Existing Options are exercised before the Record Date, the capital structure of the Company following the issue of New Shares under the Entitlement Offer (assuming full subscription under the Entitlement Offer) is expected to be as follows:

Shares on issue as at 19 November 2024 (following the Placement)	2,664,770,015
Maximum number of New Shares to be issued under the Entitlement Offer (subject to rounding)	248,977,000
Shares on issue following the close of the Entitlement Offer (assuming 100% take up)	2,913,747,015

3.2 Dilution

The Entitlement Offer is a pro-rata offer so that if all Eligible Shareholders take up their Entitlements and none of the Option Holders exercise their Existing Options and participate in the Entitlement Offer, the existing voting power of all Eligible Shareholders will not dilute.

However, if some Eligible Shareholders take up their Entitlements, those Eligible Shareholders who do not take up all of their Entitlements will have their interest in the Company diluted.

4. Risks

The business activities of the Company are subject to risks and there are many risks which may impact on the Company's future performance. Some of these risks can be mitigated by the use of safeguards and appropriate systems and controls, but many are outside of the control of the Company and cannot be mitigated. There are also general risks associated with any investment. Eligible Shareholders should consider all of these risks before they make a decision whether or not to acquire New Shares.

The securities offered under this Offer Booklet are considered speculative. An investment in the Company is not risk free and Eligible Shareholders should consider the risk factors described below, together with information contained elsewhere in the Offer Booklet and to consult their professional advisers before deciding to accept for their Entitlement.

The principal risk factors include, but are not limited to, matters tabulated below:

Risk	Description
Trading risk and dilution	There is no certainty that Shares will trade above the current share price as the date of this Offer Booklet. In the event that Eligible Shareholders do not apply for their Entitlement their shareholding will be diluted relative to those Eligible Shareholders who accept their Entitlement.
Commercialisation of new technologies	The commercialisation of new technology involves several risks, particularly in the rapidly evolving electric vehicle (EV) and battery markets, where changes in technology, customer demands, and key resource prices, such as lithium, can be swift and unpredictable. Products developed by the Company may not demonstrate sufficient customer benefit or technical advantage, may be challenging or impractical to scale for manufacturing, or may prove uneconomical to market and commercialise. Additionally, competitors could bring alternative products to market sooner, potentially diminishing any competitive edge the Company may have. The Company's target markets, including clean energy and life sciences, also present unique challenges: the clean energy sector is highly dynamic and price-sensitive, while life sciences markets often face strict regulatory barriers and may be conservative in adopting new technologies, which could delay or limit sales. There is no guarantee that the development and commercialisation of the Company's intellectual property will succeed, that milestones will be met, or that products will secure market acceptance. Projects may experience delays, fail to demonstrate performance advantages, or become non-viable due to various scientific or commercial factors. Additionally, development costs could exceed projections, and manufacturing expenses may inhibit profitable sales. To mitigate these risks, the Company is committed to what it considers to be well-executed marketing strategies for ongoing awareness of both current and emerging market dynamics, encompassing technical advancements and commercial opportunities.
Supplier arrangements	The Company has arrangements with a number of key suppliers and service providers. To the extent that the Company cannot secure and retain key suppliers or service providers, their respective abilities to maintain consistent production levels may be compromised, which in turn may have a material adverse impact on the financial performance and position of the Company.
Risk of product liability or other safety issues	There is a potential risk that the products sold by the Company or its related entities could, indirectly pose risks to consumers. Should this occur there are several materially adverse outcomes that could occur, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the Company or its related entities could be subject to regulatory action or be sued and held liable for any harm caused to customers;

For personal use only

Risk	Description
	or <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the Company's brands and reputation could be damaged. These may all impact the financial performance and position of the Company. The Company works closely with its customers through an extensive evaluation process to ensure that performance and safety data is in place.
Additional requirements for capital	The Company's capital requirements depend on numerous factors. The Company is currently loss making which is expected to continue for the foreseeable future, and may require further financing in addition to amounts raised under the Offer Booklet. Any additional equity financing will dilute shareholdings, and debt financing, if available, may involve restrictions on financing and operating activities. If the Company is unable to obtain additional financing as needed, it may be required to reduce the scope of its operations, its production levels, or scale back its research and development as the case may be. There is no guarantee that the Company will be able to secure any additional funding or be able to secure funding on terms favourable to the Company. If funding is not secured, it may have a material impact on the Company's ability to operate.
Systems, security and data privacy	As with most companies, and particularly high-technology companies, the Company stores much of its data electronically. There is a risk that the Company's electronic storage systems may suffer a data breach or attack through hacking, trojans, viruses or other cyber-attacks. Such a breach or attack could cause loss, damage or theft of information relating to intellectual property, trade secrets, product development, company employee data, contract information, strategic and financial information, and regulatory information, causing a disruption to business operations and/or eroding competitive advantage. The occurrence of any of these events could have a material adverse effect on the operations of the business, and in turn the financial performance and financial position of the Company.
Key personnel and employees	The Company relies upon its ability to attract and retain experienced executives, and technical and scientific personnel. The loss of any of such persons may negatively impact upon the Company's ability to develop and commercialise its intellectual property, and may lead to a loss in revenue and profitability. In order to support the retention of key personnel the Company has awarded long-term performance options to align their interests with those of the business.
Change to laws or regulations	The Company's business, prospects, reputation, performance and financial condition could all be affected by changes to law and regulation, changes to policies, and changes in the supervisory activities and expectations of its regulators across all of the jurisdictions in which it operates. Although the Company is presently focussing its main efforts on the rapidly developing clean energy market, as such markets develop and mature, new laws and regulations may result which may result in additional costs and time to market.
Loss of key relationships	The Company is actively developing customer and strategic relationships in the global battery market. Potential consolidation within the market may result in the loss of a significant relationship or potential customer. It is expected that this consolidation and strategic partnering will continue. Acquisitions or other consolidating transactions could harm the Company in a number of ways. The Company may lose strategic relationships or customers if third parties with whom the Company or its related entities have arrangements with are acquired by or enter into relationships with a competitor (which could cause the Company to lose access to necessary

	resources). The Company's current competitors could become stronger, or new competitors could form from consolidations. This could cause the Company to lose access to markets or expend greater resources in order to stay competitive. Separately, the relationship between the Company and third parties may deteriorate organically, which may have an adverse impact on the business of the Company.
International trade and foreign exchange risk	The Company operates in a global market and its business operations are subject to trade agreements. Changes to international trade agreements, including free trade agreements, may have an impact on the commercial viability and supply of materials for the manufacture of the Company's products and the sale of those products to its customers. Upon commercialisation the Company will both procure materials and sell its products in multiple foreign currencies. Changes in foreign exchange, particularly AUD to USD, and AUD to EUR, may adversely impact the gross margins achieved on and the profitability of the Company's products. The Company will continuously evaluate its net exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency and consider hedging instruments, where appropriate, to reduce ongoing volatility.
Supply Chain Risk	Post commercialisation the Company will operate using a global supply and customer base. This global supply and customer base may be exposed to hazards outside of the Company's control including changing political climates and natural disasters which could interrupt global supply chains. In the event of such an interruption, the Company cannot guarantee that it will be able to source appropriate replacement materials or find alternate customer pathways with a commercially viable arrangement or within a required timeframe to prevent interruption to its operations. Such an interruption may have a material adverse effect on the financial position and financial performance of the Company. The Company intends to seek to diversify its supplier base and hold buffer stocks to reduce supply risk. The Company will also consider manufacturing capabilities in international markets, closer to its customers locations when required.
Production Risk	The ability for the Company to produce products (such as Anteo X™, AnteoBind™ and Ultranode™) is dependent on the ability to undertake production at the Company's Brisbane facility or a third party manufacturer. Production can be disrupted or the quality of products produced impacted, by a range of factors. This can include issues related to key inputs and their related costs. These key inputs include raw materials, electricity, other utilities and skilled labour. Any significant interruption or negative change in the availability or cost of these inputs could materially impact the development and production of the business and subsequently, the operating results of the Company. In particular, given the highly technical nature of the materials and processes used by the Company, supply and services may be limited to a single or limited number of suppliers or service providers. As a result, there is an enhanced risk of difficulties in securing the required supplies or service providers, or to do so on appropriate terms. The Company may also face quality or yield issues in the production of its products. The Company's current facility has a limited capacity and this may impact the Company's ability to meet customer demand on a timely basis.
Sales	Realisation of sales and revenue by the Company or its related entities may be slower than projected to make the business cash-flow positive. While the Company has initiatives underway to increase orders for products and development services, the specialised and regulated nature

	of both the battery and life sciences sectors may contribute to longer sales cycles. This delay could be due to extended product validation periods, regulatory approval processes, or the need for extensive customer testing before full-scale adoption. Consequently, it is possible that sales or orders for services may take longer than expected, impacting the Company's revenue and cash flow projections.
Reputational risk	There is a risk that incidents beyond the control of the Company could occur which may impact customer, business, or regulatory confidence, or preferences for battery chemistries and related products generally. This reputational risk could result from incidents involving the Company, its related entities or other non-related industry participants.
IP Protection	The Company's core business is to create value through technology, and the Company's significant assets are its intellectual property rights in products and services, which it has and continues to develop. The Company relies on a combination of intellectual property laws, confidentiality procedures and contractual provisions to protect these assets. The laws of some foreign jurisdictions may provide less protection than the laws of Australia for the Company's proprietary rights. Unauthorised use of the Company's intellectual property could have a materially adverse effect on the Company and there can be no assurance that the Company's legal remedies would adequately compensate it for damage to its business caused by such use. The Company's success will depend on, in part, its ability to create and protect its intellectual property, including its trade marks, patents, copyright, trade secrets and know-how. Whilst the Company takes care in ensuring that submitted patents do not breach prior or existing intellectual property, there is a risk that lodged patents may not be approved, or may be challenged by third party companies which own existing patented technology.
IP Infringement	While the Company is not aware that any of its products, patents and other intellectual property infringe upon the proprietary rights of third parties, there can be no assurance that third parties will not claim infringement of their intellectual property by the Company. Any such claim, with or without merit, could result in substantial costs and diversion of management of resources and a successful claim could inhibit the Company's ability to market its products and services which could have material adverse effect on the financial and operating results of the Company.
Competition and obsolescence	Industry sectors in which the Company is involved are subject to domestic and international competition. Competitors of the Company may (and others do) have significantly more financial resources and marketing experience than the Company which may lead to reduced margins and loss of revenue or loss of market share for the Company. Reduced margins could eventuate if, in the future, industry consolidation in the clean energy market occurs if market participants seek revenue accretion at the expense of profit margin. As the battery industry in the clean energy sector is developing rapidly and there is also the risk of obsolescence if new technologies are developed that replace Lithium ion batteries. This could have a material adverse impact upon the Company and its focus upon the Lithium ion battery segment.
Contracts and agreements	There is a risk that existing contracts entered into by the Company or its related entities may be terminated, lost or impaired, or renewed on less favourable terms.
Counterparty risks	The Company or its related entities have entered, and may enter, into several commercial agreements and arrangements (including licences) with third parties that are, or could be, material to the financial performance

Risk	Description
	and prospects of its business. There is a risk that counterparties may not execute such agreements or, in respect of agreements that have been executed or are executed in the future, the counterparty may fail to meet their obligations under those agreements and arrangements. Negative commercial consequences will, or are likely to, result from the non-execution of such an agreement or any non-observance of obligations under such agreements. These consequences may include preventing the Company from executing a part, or parts, of its business plan. This in turn may result in an adverse effect on the Company's or its related entities' proposed activities and operations, financial performance and prospects.
Impairments	Many of the risks set in this Offer Booklet may be cause for the Company to reassess the carrying value of its assets. Indicators of impairment can exist for a number of reasons including where asset valuations are lower than their written down book values, certain activities, contracts or joint ventures are discontinued, a determination is made that equipment can no longer be utilised by the Company in producing its products or sold to a third party or inventory passes its shelf life, can no longer be used in the production of Company products and/or cannot be sold to a third party, amongst other things. The recognition of an impairment will result in a write-down of asset value and an equivalent non-cash charge to the income statement, thereby reducing the Company's net assets and reported profits respectively. The Company assesses for indicators of impairment at each reporting period.
Grant Funding Risks	The Company has received grant funding from ARENA and the CMBT Fund, each of which are structured as matched funding by the Company payable upon achieving agreed milestones, and other terms and conditions which are customary for grants of this nature. There is a risk that delays or failure to achieve these milestones and conditions as planned may lead to funding disruptions or withdrawal, and potentially impact the Company's liquidity and delivery timelines.
Economic	General economic conditions, movements in interest and inflation rates and currency exchange rates may have an adverse effect on the Company's business and production activities, as well as on its ability to fund those activities.
Market conditions	Share market conditions may affect the value of the Company's Shares (and options to acquire Shares) regardless of the Company's operating performance. Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • general economic outlook; • introduction of tax reform or other new legislation; • interest rates and inflation rates; • changes in investor sentiment toward particular market sectors; • the demand for, and supply of, capital; and • terrorism or other hostilities. The market price of securities can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general and hemp industry stocks in particular. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return on an investment in the Company.
Climate change risk	The Company is exposed to the short, medium and long-term climate change and environment related risks. Specific risks include physical climate-related event risks such as extreme weather events or increased volatility and change in weather patterns which lead to increased costs or restricted availability and use of water and electricity in manufacturing

	activities, and force majeure events. These risks could adversely affect the Company operations, business practices, financial performance and reputation if not adequately managed.
Consumer and marketplace	Unanticipated changes in consumer preference and demand, or competitive pressures that significantly alter the landscape, such as acquisitions and aggressive price wars, can have adverse effects on the businesses ability to capture growth opportunities or effectively manage inventory and supply.
Litigation	There is a risk that the Company may in future be the subject of, or required to commence, litigation. The Company is not aware of any proceeding, litigation, mediation, conciliation or administrative proceeding currently taking place, pending or threatened against the Company.
Tax risks	Changes to the rate of taxes imposed on the Company (including in overseas jurisdictions in which the Company operates now or in the future) or tax legislation generally may affect the Company and its Shareholders. In addition, an interpretation of Australian tax laws by the Australian Taxation Office that differs to the Company's interpretation may lead to an increase in the Company's tax liabilities and a reduction in Shareholder returns. The Company has received a R&D Tax Incentive cash rebate in recent financial years, and any change to the R&D Tax Incentive scheme could have a material impact on the Company's financial resources. Personal tax liabilities are the responsibility of each individual investor. The Company is not responsible either for tax or tax penalties incurred by investors.
Speculative investment	The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the Shares. Therefore, the New Shares to be issued pursuant to this Offer Booklet carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those securities.
