PME signs $24M upgrade to “full stack” with NYU Langone Health

27 November 2024

HIGHLIGHTS

- PME signs AUD $24M, 5-year deal with NYU Langone Health
- Contract is to extend to “full stack” – with the addition of Visage 7 Open Archive to the Visage 7 Viewer and Visage 7 Workflow
- Visage 7 archive to be implemented in the cloud
- Continues PME’s expansion into North American academic institutions
- Transaction-based model with potential upside

Leading health imaging company Pro Medicus Limited [ASX: PME] today announced its wholly-owned U.S. subsidiary, Visage Imaging, Inc., has signed an additional $24M, 5-year contract with NYU Langone Health, one of the most respected and innovative healthcare institutions in North America.

The contract, based on a transaction-based licensing model, will see the addition of Visage 7 Open Archive deployed in the cloud and an eventual transition of NYU Langone’s entire current on-premise system to the cloud. The Visage 7 Viewer contract (signed in September 2020) has been extended for a further year to 2029, as part of the deal.

Planning for the rollout is to commence immediately and will involve the migration of NYU Langone’s current archive to the Visage 7 Open Archive.

“This is a significant deal for us as it confirms our belief that there is opportunity for us to sell our archive and worklist modules back to our “viewer only” clients.” said Dr Sam Hupert, Pro Medicus CEO. “And, in time, we believe those customers with on premise solutions will join NYU and transition to cloud, a trend we see continuing.”
