Brief explanation of results

Over the half year as the US Federal Reserve cut the effective interest rate from around 5.5% to 4.5%, while the S&P 500 rose over 7.7% in the six months to 31 December 2024. A record amount of market capitalisation was increasingly concentrated in the "Magnificent Seven" tech and 'AI' stocks, while the equities to commodities ratio remained at historic lows.

The Fund paid a record distribution during the 6 month period of 15.2 cents per unit. The Fund also undertook a unit placement and a security participation scheme to raise a total of $7.47 million (before costs) with the issue of a combined 6.79 million new units.

Performance over the 6 months was a 1.25% decrease in underlying Net Asset Value net of the profit distribution, fees and expenses. Over the 5 year period to 31 December 2024, the Lowell Resources Fund's change in underlying estimated net asset value per unit (inclusive of reinvested distributions and after fees and expenses) was 22.9%pa. The Fund has outperformed the benchmark S&P/ASX Small Resources Accumulation Index (XSRAI), the ASX Resources 300 Index (Total Return) and the ASX 200 Index (Total Return) over five and ten years.

The Fund's strategy is long-only, ungeared and focused on emerging resources equities.

The Fund continues to maintain an overweight position in ASX listed gold explorers and developers. Over the six months to 31 December 2024, the USD$ gold price continued to rise and was up by around 12% to US$2,624/oz, hitting a record during the period. The Australian dollar gold price also surged, up 22%. The Fund's largest gold exposures at 31 December 2024 were Ramelius Resources (as a result of the Musgrave Minerals takeover) and Astral Resources in WA, and CSE-listed Sanu Gold. As at 31 December 2024, the Fund held a 50% exposure to gold equities.

In energy, the US$ price of crude oil was down 12% in the 6 months to 31 December 2024 as demand from China looked to be peaking. The Fund's allocation to O&G at 31 December 2024 was 7%. As at 31 December 2024, Queensland gas developer Comet Ridge was the Fund's largest O&G holding. The spot price of uranium (1% Fund allocation) fell back over the period to around US$70/lb after breaking above US$100/lb earlier in the year, and junior uranium companies share prices suffered as a result.

The USD price of copper fell slightly over the half year. The Fund's key base metal holdings were Hannan Metals, Koonenberry Gold and Caravel Minerals, all of whose flagship projects are copper focused. Nickel (2% Fund exposure) fell more than 10% in the 6-month period, as Indonesian production continued to swamp the market. Lithium and other battery minerals also remained depressed, and represented only 1% of the Fund at calendar year end.

Revenue from Fund operations for the half year was $2.77 million (2023 pcip $9.34 million), operating profit of $1.7 million (2023 pcip $8.28million) and earnings per unit of $0.047 (2023 pcip $0.256).

After the record return generated by the Azure Minerals investment in the previous period, more difficult market conditions especially for battery minerals equities in the reported period saw a fall back in profit.

Based on our review, which is not an audit, we have not become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the half-year financial report of Lowell Resources Fund does not comply with the Corporations Act 2001 including:

- (i) giving a true and fair view of the Cremorne Capital Limited – Lowell Resources Fund's financial position as at 31 December 2024; and of its performance for the half-year ended on that date; and
- (ii) complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

Basis for Conclusion

We conducted our review in accordance with ASRE 2410 Review of a Financial Report Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity. Our responsibilities are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Review of the Financial Report section of our report. We are independent of the Fund in accordance with the auditor independence requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 and the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional & Ethical Standards Board's APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including Independence Standards) (the Code) that are relevant to our audit of the annual financial report in Australia. We have also fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code.

We confirm that the independence declaration required by the Corporations Act 2001 which has been given to the directors of the Company, would be in the same terms if given to the directors as at the time of this auditor's review report.

Independent Auditor's Review Report To the Unitholders of Lowell Resources Fund

Auditor's Responsibility for the Review of the Financial Report

Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the half-year financial report based on our review. ASRE 2410 requires us to conclude whether we have become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the half-year financial report is not in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001 including giving a true and fair view of the fund's financial position as at 31 December 2024 and its performance for the half-year ended on that date and complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

A review of a half-year financial report consists of making enquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.
