Quarterly performance

Netwealth is on track for a record year of FUA net flows, having delivered $3.5B of FUA net flows in the March quarter, following strong growth in the first half year with net flows FYTD of $12.0B.

FUA net flows continue to be driven by consistently high transition rates from existing financial intermediaries, and strong conversion rates of new business from a broad range of client groups and tiers. Net flows have continued to remain strong in April, despite market volatility.

Total FUA at 31 March 2025 of $104.1B, an increase of $2.5B during the quarter. Despite volatile market movements towards the end of the quarter, the negative impact from FUA market movement was only 1% of total FUA, or $1.0B.

Notwithstanding the ongoing market volatility and market conditions, the impact on Netwealth's revenue remains limited with income remaining stable. This resilience is attributed to several factors, including:

- Our high levels of recurring revenue;

- The diversified nature of our revenue sources with complementary correlations to market movements, including recent elevated trading volumes and balance in the cash transaction account;
- Portfolio diversification across various asset classes and asset types (including managed models, fixed income and private market funds) and enhanced trading features; and
- A large spread of customers across all segments (high net worth, mass and emerging-affluent).

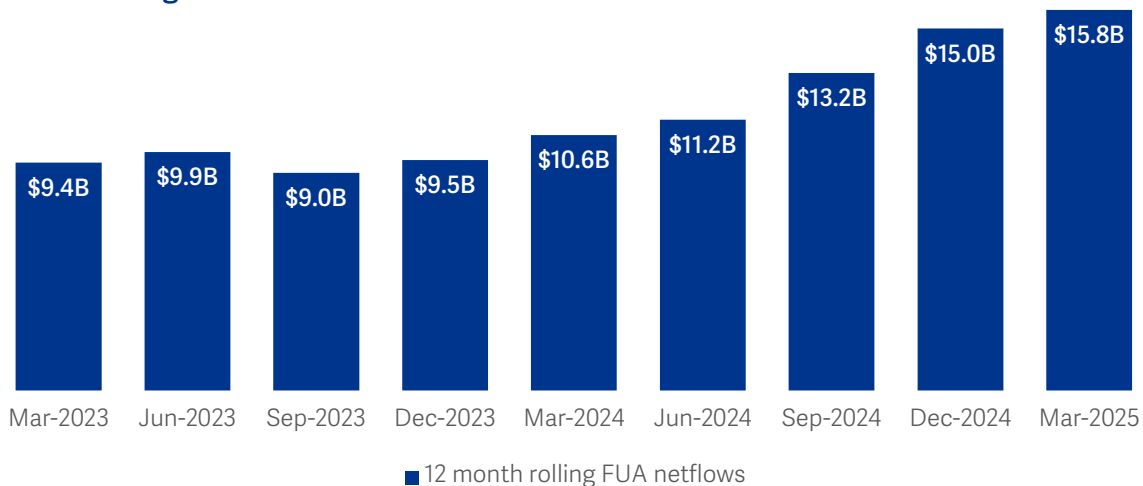

Funds Under Management (FUM) net flows of $1.0B for the quarter was 51% higher than PCP. FUM increased to $24.8B, an increase of $0.7B for the quarter, including $0.3B negative market movement.

Managed Account net flows of $0.9B was 42% higher than PCP, with a closing balance of $21.4B, an increase of $0.6B for the quarter, including $0.3B of negative market movement.

The Netwealth cash transaction account balance averaged 5.6% of custodial FUA over the quarter and closed at 5.8% and has increased further in the first weeks of April.

Outlook

- We expect our FUA net flows to be seasonally strong in the June quarter. Net flows have continued to remain strong in April, despite market volatility.
- We remain confident in our net flows outlook for FY26 and beyond, which is supported by a robust transition pipeline and new client wins.
- Our revenue base is highly recurring and well diversified across customer segments (high net worth, mass and emerging-affluent) products and revenue sources (administration, cash, transaction, management, and other ancillary fees). These revenue sources have complementary correlations, providing stability and resilience in volatile markets.
- We continue to invest in broadening our revenue sources, having actively diversified these over the last two years with fixed income products, a 31-day notice cash fund, an expanded range of term deposit providers and annuities, a strategic partnership with iCapital and new trading functionality on the platform.

- We expect the strong adoption of managed accounts to continue as advisers focus on efficiency and automation. The benefits of managed accounts, and ability to rebalance portfolios quickly and at scale in response to volatile market conditions allows advisers to focus on new and existing client relationships.
- To capitalise on both existing and emerging market opportunities, and to drive sustainable profit growth and innovation, we will continue to invest in our people, products, security and technology capabilities. This level of investment will continue into FY26.
- As previously noted, as part of this investment, we are reducing our reliance on third-party systems for core platform functionality. Consequently, in 2H25 compared to 1H25, we expect:
 - Headcount growth to increase, and total operational expenses (inclusive of Xeppo and Flux headcount and costs) to grow by approximately 5%; and
 - Investment in capitalised software to increase by approximately $2M (and increase approximately a further $0.5M in 1H26).
- Netwealth remains in a strong financial position:
 - Highly profitable, with strong EBITDA margin;
 - A very high correlation between EBITDA and operating cashflow, resulting in strong cash generation;
 - Very high levels of predictable, recurring, and diversified revenue; and
 - Debt free and significant cash reserves.
