ISS and CGI Glass Lewis recommend Articore's shareholders vote AGAINST all resolutions

Leading independent proxy advisers CGI Glass Lewis and Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) have agreed with the voting recommendations of the Board of Articore Group and recommended shareholders vote AGAINST all resolutions at the Group's Extraordinary General Meeting on 22 August 2025 to remove the current directors and install an alternative slate.

CGI Glass Lewis and ISS, in separate reports, found the requisitioning shareholders - which include former Articore Chairman Richard Cawsey and former CEO Martin Hosking - had failed to present a significantly compelling case for change, and strongly critiqued their rationale for seeking to spill the Board.

Both ISS and CGI Glass Lewis concluded the Board had already undergone significant refreshment, with ISS noting Articore's recent financial developments in reporting its strongest fourth-quarter performance in five years and suggesting further change could undermine reforms already implemented by the new Chair and Group CEO.

Articore Group Board Chair, Robin Mendelson remarks

"We welcome ISS's and CGI Glass Lewis' thoughtful analysis and voting recommendations, which align with the Board, and acknowledge the meaningful progress already achieved under our refreshed leadership team," Ms Mendelson said. "Articore is firmly on track to deliver improved performance, and preserving Board stability at this pivotal juncture is essential to executing our strategy and delivering the sustainable, long-term value our shareholders deserve."
