Summary of key terms

For personal use only

- The proposed merger (“Merger”) implies a value of $1,616<sup>1</sup> million for Barrenjoey (on a 100% basis) with MFG to acquire all outstanding issued capital not already owned<sup>2</sup>
- This implies 15.0x P/E on an LTM basis, pre-synergies
- Today MFG has agreed to acquire an incremental ~10% economic interest of Barrenjoey from Barclays for $149 million, expected to be funded by an institutional placement and Share Purchase Plan (SPP) (detailed terms on page 32)<sup>3</sup>
- The up to $130.0m Placement to institutional investors will be priced at $8.45, representing a 0.1% discount to the 5-day VWAP. Retail shareholders will be offered the opportunity to acquire shares via an SPP targeted to raise $20.0m
- Remaining Barrenjoey shares to be acquired via the issuance of 106.8 million new MFG shares, subject to a shareholder vote to be held in April 2026 and the satisfaction of certain other conditions precedent
- Barrenjoey employees are subject to vesting and escrow arrangements, with some restrictions extending up to approximately 9 years post announcement
- Following completion of the Merger, MFG shareholders will own 58.2%, Placement shareholders will own 5.3%, Barrenjoey shareholders will own 31.7% and Barclays will own c. 4.9%<sup>4</sup>
- The MFG Board unanimously recommends that shareholders vote in favour of the issue of the Consideration Shares to fund the proposed Merger at the Extraordinary General Meeting to be held in April 2026

[1] Based on a price equivalent to the Placement and SPP issue price of $8.45. The consideration payable includes an amount for the acquisition of relevant parties' economic interest in Barrenjoey and an amount for the acquisition of certain rights, including voting control, which do not pertain to all shares equally [2] Immediately prior to completion of the Merger [3] Barclays has agreed to pay Barrenjoey a liquidity fee in respect of the proceeds payable to it in respect of the Initial Acquisition. No fee is payable by MFG to Barrenjoey in relation to its role as lead manager on the Placement [4] MFG shareholder ownership figures assume existing MFG shareholders acquire 2,366,863 shares via the SPP and that no MFG shares are bought back and cancelled pre-completion of the Merger. Placement shareholder ownership figures assume Placement shareholders acquire 15,384,615 shares via the Placement and that no MFG shares are bought back and cancelled pre-completion of the Merger. Neither the SPP or the Placement are underwritten and the final numbers may be more or less than these numbers

While MFG or Barrenjoey (as applicable) believes these sources are reliable, MFG and/or Barrenjoey (as applicable) has not independently verified the market and industry data obtained from these third-party sources. Forecasts and other forward-looking information obtained from these sources are subject to the same qualifications and uncertainties as the other forward-looking statements in this Presentation and may differ among third-party sources. These forecasts and forward-looking information are subject to uncertainty and risk due to a variety of factors, including those described in the Risks on slides 54 to 60 and in the "Forward-looking statements" paragraphs below. # Risks (1/7)

This section describes the key risks with respect to the proposed Merger, the risks relating to an investment in MFG, risks in relation to the capital raising and other general risks, any or all of which may affect the value of MFG shares or its financial position or performance. It does not purport to describe all risks of an investment in MFG shares. Before investing in MFG, you should be aware that an investment in MFG has a number of risks, some of which are specific to MFG and some of which relate to listed securities generally, and many of which are beyond the control of MFG.

Investors should consult their own professional, financial, legal and tax advisers about those risks and the suitability of investing in light of their particular circumstances. Investors should also consider publicly available information on MFG (including information available on the ASX website) before making an investment decision.

Key risks with respect to the proposed Merger

This section describes the key risks relating to the proposed Merger, all or any of which may affect the value of MFG shares and MFG's financial position and performance. Before participating in the capital raising or voting on the shareholder resolution regarding the approval of the issue of the Consideration Shares to fund the proposed Merger at the Extraordinary General Meeting to be held in April 2026 ("Resolution"), you should be aware that the Merger involves risks, many of which are beyond the control of MFG.

1. Analysis of Merger opportunity

MFG has undertaken commercial, financial, operational, taxation, legal, business and other analysis in respect of Barrenjoey in order to determine its attractiveness to the MFG group and whether to pursue the Merger. Despite MFG's role in the formation of Barrenjoey and the fact that MFG's current Chairman is a member of the Barrenjoey board of directors, risks may exist in relation to Barrenjoey of which MFG may be unaware, including latent, future or otherwise unknown claims or liabilities. The analysis undertaken by MFG may draw conclusions and forecasts that are inaccurate or which are not realised in due course.

To the extent that the actual results achieved following the Merger are weaker than those indicated by MFG's analysis, there is a risk that there may be an adverse impact on the financial position and performance of Barrenjoey, and therefore on the return that MFG receives from having full ownership of Barrenjoey.

2. Reliance on information provided

MFG undertook a due diligence investigation process in respect of the Merger and was provided with detailed information by or on behalf of certain Barrenjoey Parties and Barrenjoey. In many cases it is not possible to verify the accuracy, reliability or completeness of all of that provided information against independent data. There is no assurance that the due diligence undertaken was conclusive. If any of the information that was provided to MFG is incomplete, not accurate or misleading, then the benefits expected to be derived from the Merger may not be delivered or may not be delivered in the time period anticipated.

The information reviewed by MFG includes forward-looking information. While MFG has been able to review and assess some of the foundations for the forward-looking information relating to Barrenjoey, forward-looking information can be unreliable and is based on assumptions that may prove to be incorrect or may change in the future, outside of the control of MFG.

3. Increased exposure to Barrenjoey

If the Merger completes, MFG will have increased its exposure to Barrenjoey. Barrenjoey operates in the financial services industry, which is highly regulated and highly competitive.

Parts of Barrenjoey, in particular corporate advisory, have transactional based revenue models. These businesses may have higher volatility in financial performance than traditional recurring funds management revenue.

A variation in legislation and / or government policy may affect Barrenjoey and the business environment in which it operates. Any failure by Barrenjoey to operate effective and fully compliant regulatory programs (e.g. to meet licensing conditions or to combat money laundering, bribery, corruption or terrorist financing or to ensure compliance with economic sanctions) or where breaches are only detected post-Merger could have serious legal and reputational consequences for the combined group and its employees. Consequences can include fines, criminal and civil penalties, civil claims, reputational harm, litigation and limitations on doing business in certain jurisdictions, which in turn could have an adverse impact on MFG's financial position and performance.

If competition in the space in which Barrenjoey currently operates increases, including if new competitors enter the market and the group is unable to respond appropriately through improved market offerings and fit for purpose operations, the financial performance or operating margins of MFG could be adversely affected.

4. Limitations on contractual protections

The documentation for the Merger does not include a material adverse change provision which would enable MFG to terminate the Merger if a significant decline in Barrenjoey's business or similar event occurred (and correspondingly, there is no right for the Barrenjoey Parties or Barclays to do so were a material adverse event in relation to MFG to occur). As a result, there are limited contractual protections available to MFG to protect against adverse financial or operational performance, or other adverse events, in relation to the Barrenjoey business before or after completion of the Merger.

Risks (2/7)

5. Completion conditions and completion risk

Under the agreements for the Merger (“Merger Agreements”), MFG proposes to acquire all of the remaining shares in Barrenjoey that it does not hold immediately prior to completion of the proposed Merger. There is a risk that the Merger may not complete, or may not complete on the current terms or expected timing for a number of reasons, including failure to satisfy a regulatory condition that is required to be met prior to completion. If for any reason the Merger does not proceed, there may be adverse consequences for MFG and its shareholders. This includes that the trading price of MFG may be affected, certain costs relating to the Merger will still be incurred and the anticipated benefits of the Merger will not be realised. This may adversely affect MFG’s operational and financial performance and the market price of its Shares. If the Resolution is not approved by MFG shareholders, then the Merger will not proceed and the expected benefits of full ownership of Barrenjoey would not be realised.

6. Key management

Retention of key personnel is a key risk associated with Barrenjoey’s and MFG’s business performance at all levels. Certain management personnel of Barrenjoey have been identified by MFG as critical to the ongoing performance of Barrenjoey and the execution of its growth plans. Failure to retain some or all of these individuals may materially adversely impact Barrenjoey’s operational and financial performance and the achievement of MFG’s plans with respect to the business, including its growth strategy and integration plan. Despite the vesting and escrow arrangements that apply, the ability to retain these individuals may ultimately be outside the control of MFG.

7. Change of control

MFG is required to seek written approval from the Securities and Futures Commission of Hong Kong (“SFC HK”) in order to become a “Substantial Shareholder” of Barrenjoey. There is a risk that SFC HK will not provide their consent to MFG becoming a “Substantial Holder” or will not do so within the required timeframe, which may trigger a termination right in favour of the sellers under the Merger Agreements or the sellers may seek to renegotiate terms or could otherwise prevent the Merger from taking place or may cause it to occur on a protracted basis. This could otherwise adversely affect MFG’s financial performance post the Merger.

The Merger may also trigger change of control clauses in some contracts to which Barrenjoey is a party. There is a risk that a counterparty may not provide their consent to the Merger, which may trigger a termination right in favour of that counterparty or the counterparty may seek to renegotiate terms to obtain that consent which has the potential to adversely affect Barrenjoey’s financial performance. This in turn could adversely affect MFG’s financial performance post the Merger.

8. Integration of synergies

There is a risk that the integration of Barrenjoey into the MFG group may encounter unexpected challenges or issues or that this process takes longer than anticipated, diverts management attention or does not deliver the anticipated benefits or synergies estimated to be derived from the Merger. Possible problems may include:

- the uncertain economic environment in which the Merger is taking place and how that might impact the business post-completion;
- unanticipated or higher than expected costs, delays or failures relating to integration of businesses, information technology, accounting or other systems;
- loss of, or reduction in, key personnel, expert capability or employee productivity, or failure to procure or retain employees;
- differences in corporate culture between the businesses being integrated;
- lack of capability and talent to deliver integration;
- failure to derive the expected benefits of the strategic growth initiatives;
- unanticipated dis-synergies; and
- disruption of ongoing operations of other businesses of MFG or Barrenjoey.

Any of these possibilities, including failure to achieve targeted synergies of integration, may mean that the anticipated benefits of the Merger are not realised or may have an adverse impact on the Group’s operating and financial performance and the future price of shares.

Risks (3/7)

9. Data security and third party information technology

Barrenjoey is subject to similar data security risks as MFG.

Barrenjoey is reliant on third parties from which it receives information technology services. In most cases these services are provided, and applications are licensed, on the relevant supplier's standard terms and conditions. These arrangements and licenses will need to be renewed or extended in the future. There is no guarantee that post-Merger MFG will be able to conclude licensing arrangements for those products or technology with appropriate partners on commercially acceptable terms, or at all. Failure to secure appropriate licensing arrangements, or any disruption, variation or termination of the existing arrangements, may impact the financial performance of Barrenjoey and in turn result in an adverse impact on the MFG group's business, financial condition and results of operations.

10. Dilution risk

Subject to MFG shareholder approval of the Resolution, the Merger will be funded through the issuing of new MFG shares to the Barrenjoey Parties and an affiliate of Barclays PLC. Existing MFG shareholders will have their percentage shareholding in MFG (and therefore effective voting entitlement) diluted as a result of the completion of the Merger, the Placement and the SPP.

11. Increased exposure to market-based and non-annuity revenue streams

If the Merger proceeds, MFG will have greater exposure to market-based and non-annuity revenues from Barrenjoey's advisory, underwriting, sales and trading, research and financing activities, which are inherently cyclical and sensitive to market conditions and may increase earnings volatility relative to MFG's historical profile. Periods of weaker issuance, M&A activity or trading volumes, widening credit spreads or elevated volatility may reduce advisory fees, underwriting revenues, trading income and performance or transaction fees and place pressure on margins, and those factors are largely outside MFG's control. Diversification benefits from the Merger may not offset this cyclicity, and adverse market conditions could materially impact the merged group's operating and financial performance and the price of MFG shares.

12. Sell-down by former Barrenjoey shareholders

Although the Consideration Shares that would be held by the Barrenjoey Parties (with the exception of the Incoming Barrenjoey Nominee Directors) are expected to be subject to vesting and escrow with staggered releases, any release or sell-down by the former Barrenjoey shareholders (being the Barrenjoey Parties or an affiliate of Barclays PLC) of their MFG shares post-Merger could create an overhang and affect the market price and liquidity of MFG shares, and differing escrow profiles may lead to asynchronous liquidity events and increased share price volatility.

13. Tax risks

The merged group will be subject to a range of Australian and foreign tax regimes, and changes in tax law, administrative practice or interpretation (including in relation to income tax, withholding taxes, GST, stamp duties and employment taxes) may adversely affect the financial position and performance of MFG. The actual tax outcomes of the Merger may differ from those assumed in evaluating the transaction, including because relevant tax authorities may adopt positions that are inconsistent with advice received or assumptions made, or because guidance or law changes between signing and completion or thereafter.

Tax audits, reviews or disputes may arise in the ordinary course and, following completion, could result in additional tax, interest, penalties, increased compliance costs or restrictions on carrying forward or using tax losses or franking credits. Outcomes of any such matters are inherently uncertain and may be material.

14. Importance of the Barclays-Barrenjoey relationship and potential impact of a breakdown

Barrenjoey's strategic relationship with Barclays provides access to global distribution, product capability, balance sheet support, research and trading connectivity, technology and brand. Although no change is envisaged as a result of the transaction, a termination, suspension or material change in that relationship (including changes in Barclays' priorities, risk appetite or constraints) could impair origination, execution and distribution, reduce revenues and profitability, increase costs and capital needs to source alternatives (which may not be available on comparable terms or timelines), disrupt client service, talent retention and cross-border capabilities, and create potential conflicts or misalignment that adversely affect the merged group's business and financial performance.

Risks (4/7)

II. Risks of an investment in MFG and other general risks

1. Attracting and retaining employees

MFG relies on its ability to attract, train and retain highly skilled employees, portfolio managers and investment professionals, to generate future earnings and returns. If it is unable to attract or otherwise loses key investment management and other personnel, this could adversely impact financial performance and business growth. It may also impact on its ability to execute its investment strategies, result in material client redemptions or give rise to an inability to attract new funds under management.

The risk is elevated by changes in employee working operating model expectations, wage inflation and the competitive environment for talent globally in the disciplines in which MFG recruits.

There is also a risk of concentration whereby a material proportion of MFG's revenue is delivered by a few strategies which creates reliance on a few key investment personnel.

2. Strategic alignment, innovation and competition risks

The funds management industry is highly competitive, with a significant number of existing investment professionals and new companies regularly developing new products and establishing funds management businesses.

There is a risk that MFG does not recognise and/or innovate essential elements needed to successfully deliver value to its existing clients and shareholders. If its competitors are able to do this more effectively, it may cause MFG to lose clients or shareholders to other parties and in turn have an adverse impact on its financial position and trading price respectively.

There is also a risk of loss or harm to MFG resulting from an inability to:

- recognise and react to the actions of competitors;
- plan for, and adapt to technological or other innovations that create new market opportunities or disrupt existing ones; or
- adequately identify and assess economic, regulatory or industry issues that adversely impact MFG's business model or demand for MFG's investment strategies.

Actions of current or future competitors may result in loss of funds under management, a reduction in management and performance fee revenue, reduced earnings margins or lower market share, and may have a material adverse impact on MFG's financial performance and growth prospects.

3. Counterparty and credit risk

There is a risk that MFG or a MFG fund or mandate may incur a loss arising from the failure of another party to a contract to meet its obligations. Counterparty risk arises primarily from investments in cash, derivatives and currency transactions. Substantial losses could be incurred if a counterparty fails to deliver on its contractual obligations including as a result of its bankruptcy.

4. Cybersecurity and information security risk

There is a risk that MFG's business or that of its partners, third parties or client base could be materially adversely impacted as a result of a cybersecurity attack such as a cryptolocker or denial of service attack or other loss, harm, damage or disruption. MFG could also experience a data leakage of sensitive client and proprietary information as a result of an attack or due to human error. These events could cause disruption to client services and critical business processes and result in a financial loss, loss of clients, reputational damage and a loss of funds under management which could materially and adversely impact the value of MFG's business. In addition, actual or perceived failures in MFG's technology security capability and control environment could result in financial loss and impact MFG's reputation and brand.

5. Economic conditions

The operating and financial performance of MFG is influenced by a variety of general economic and business conditions including the level of inflation, interest rates and exchange rates and government fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies. A prolonged deterioration in domestic or general economic conditions, including an increase in interest rates or a decrease in consumer and business demand, could be expected to have a material adverse impact on the financial performance of MFG's business.

Risks (5/7)

6. Foreign currency risk on MFG's earnings

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or cash flows arising from revenues, a financial commitment or recognised asset or liability will fluctuate due to changes in foreign exchange rates. MFG is exposed to foreign currency risk on:

- cash and term deposits denominated in foreign currency;
- investments denominated in foreign currency along with their respective distributions received/receivable and outstanding settlements/payments for purchases or sales of equities;
- management and performance fees receivable denominated in a foreign currency;
- payables denominated in a foreign currency namely supplier invoices and firm commitments; and
- translation of US based foreign subsidiaries.

7. General investment risks

As a global investor, MFG's investments are exposed to a range of risks including volatility in global securities markets, economic risks, currency risks, interest rate risks, changes in government, fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies, changes in accounting standards, global geo-political events and hostilities including acts of terrorism, changes in investor perceptions and environmental, social and governance risks, all of which may adversely affect the companies and markets in which MFG invests.

8. Financial risk

There is a risk that MFG fails to maintain appropriate regulatory capital and is unable to meet contractual, payment or redemption obligations.

There is also a risk of error in financial reporting due to inadequate or ineffective financial processes and controls.

Each could result in adverse regulatory outcomes and have adverse effects on MFG's reputation, financial position and performance.

9. Proprietary investments risk

There is a risk that MFG's principal investments are significantly concentrated in any fund and lack diversification, compounding the financial impacts on MFG of the poor performance of any funds.

10. Investment performance risk

The performance of MFG and its subsidiaries in providing its investment management services is dependent on its expertise, the level of research it undertakes and ultimately the outcomes of its investment decisions. MFG's assessment of the intrinsic worth of an investment may be incorrect, the relevant investment objective may not be achieved, and the market may continue to value the securities within the portfolios at prices materially different to MFG's assessment from time to time, which may result in the poor performance of the investment strategies that MFG manages.

Sustained periods of poor performance, poor investment decisions and/or unfavourable market movements may result in reduced or no performance fees and lower management fees, client redemptions, inability to attract new clients and may curtail potential future investment products.

11. Distribution risk

There is a risk that MFG's distribution strategy is ineffective or that it is poorly executed, which could have an impact on its operations and its financial position and performance.

12. Business resilience risk

There is a risk arising from inadequate, failed or disrupted processes, systems or people due to internal or external events including processing errors, fraud or any event which disrupts business continuity.

13. Information technology risk

MFG is dependent upon the information technology software and hardware used in its business. If any of MFG's business operations or systems, or those of its outsourced service providers, are damaged or disrupted, MFG could suffer financial loss, incur liability to clients, experience regulatory issues or damage to its reputation.

Risks (6/7)

14. Outsourcing

MFG's operating model places high reliance on the availability and reliability of third-party software, hardware and information technology, including data centres and communications systems. Failure or disruption may impact on the execution of critical business processes affecting MFG's ability to service its clients and shareholders. Incidents could result in financial penalties, client loss, missed business critical deadlines and increased costs.

15. Litigation risk

MFG may be exposed to litigation from time to time by third parties (including but not limited to clients, regulators and investment professionals) in relation to professional negligence, investment losses or product liability claims. To the extent that the costs of such litigation are not covered by insurance policies, these may have a material adverse impact on the financial performance or position of MFG.

16. Liquidity risk

MFG may encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with its financial liabilities on their due dates and may be forced to sell financial assets at a value which is less than they are worth in order to fund these liabilities.

17. Reduced ability to retain and attract investors

MFG's funds and institutional mandates provide investors with the ability to redeem their investment. Redemptions reduce MFG's funds under management and, therefore, the level of management and performance fees earned. A reduced ability, or inability, to attract new clients for its existing investment strategies or for new future strategies, will reduce its ability to grow fee revenue, and/or offset redemptions.

18. Legal and regulatory compliance risk

As a global investor, MFG is subject to extensive legislation, regulation and supervision by a number of regulatory bodies in multiple jurisdictions, including corporate, privacy, sanctions, employment, tax and financial reporting.

There is a risk that MFG or its products and services do not comply with all legislative and regulatory requirements applicable to MFG. This could result in financial loss and reputational damage.

A change in legislation or regulations can increase the costs of operating the business and/or change the competitive landscape and result in a loss of profits to MFG. There is also a risk that changes to laws and regulations are not effectively responded to which may impact strategy, business performance and future compliance costs.

19. Environmental, Social and Governance ("ESG") risk

There is a risk that MFG fails to adequately execute its ESG, Responsible Investment and Stewardship Strategy. Failure to meet ESG commitments or expectations, or to manage ESG risks, could harm MFG's reputation, impact performance, limit access to capital or impact MFG's ability to attract and retain talent.

20. Behaviour and conduct

There is a risk of inappropriate, unethical or unlawful behaviour by employees which is not aligned to MFG's core values. This includes the risk of the Board and senior management failing to set an appropriate culture 'tone from the top' which may result in the delivery of detrimental or suboptimal outcomes for clients and shareholders.

21. Reputation

Damage to MFG's reputation may adversely impact its ability to attract and retain clients. This may occur as a result of, amongst other things:

- a failure to address actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest;
- a regulatory breach or incident;
- employee misconduct; and
- action or inaction that could be perceived by clients, consultants, service providers or regulators to be inappropriate, unethical or inconsistent with regulatory requirements.

22. Securities price risk

There are general risks associated with an investment in the share market. As such, the value of MFG's shares may rise above or fall below the price for the MFG shares in the Placement and SPP, depending on the financial position and operating performance of MFG and other factors. Further, the market price of MFG's shares will fluctuate due to various factors, many of which are non-specific to MFG, including recommendations by brokers and analysts, Australian and international general economic conditions, inflation rates, interest rates, changes in government, fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies, global geo-political events and hostilities and acts of terrorism, investor perceptions and volatility in global markets. In the future, these factors may cause MFG's shares to trade at a lower price.

Risks (7/7)

23. Service provider risk

MFG relies on a number of service providers to provide operational and administrative functions for its funds and institutional mandates. Failure of a key service provider to deliver services to MFG in accordance with its contractual obligations may result in a financial loss or loss of clients resulting in a loss of funds under management.

24. Strategic risk

Poor strategic decisions or an inability to execute strategic decisions effectively may adversely impact the revenue and profitability of MFG. As part of MFG's corporate strategy, MFG may establish new investment strategies, funds or businesses in the future, which may introduce additional risks and uncertainty into the business which may adversely impact its value.

25. Taxation

Future changes in taxation legislation in Australia and in other jurisdictions, including changes in interpretation or application of the law by the courts or taxation authorities in Australia or other jurisdictions, may impact MFG's earnings or its future tax liabilities or may affect taxation treatment of an investment in MFG's shares, or the holding or disposal of those shares.

26. Trading risk

MFG may suffer financial loss or reputational damage or, may lose clients leading to a reduction in funds under management as a result of a trading (or related) error.

27. Unit pricing risk

MFG acts as the responsible entity to several registered and unregistered managed investment schemes ("funds") in Australia. As a result, MFG bears the risk of any unit pricing error made in the calculation of unit prices on behalf of these funds. An incorrect unit price may result in a financial loss to the fund(s) or the underlying clients and may lead to a loss of funds under management. MFG may be required to compensate the fund(s) or clients for losses resulting from unit pricing errors.

28. Risks of dilution

As noted in risk 1.10, MFG shareholders who do not participate in the Placement or the SPP will have their percentage shareholding in MFG diluted. Depending on the size of a shareholder's existing holding and the number of new shares allocated to them under the Placement or SPP, a participating shareholder may still be diluted even though they participate in the Placement or SPP. Investors may also have their investment diluted by future capital raisings by MFG. MFG may also issue new securities in the future to finance acquisitions or pay down debt which may, under certain circumstances, dilute the value of an investors interest.

29. Liquidity risk

Shareholders who wish to sell their ordinary shares may be unable to do so at an acceptable price, or at all, if insufficient liquidity exists in the market for the ordinary shares. There may be relatively few, or many buyers or sellers of MFG shares on ASX at any given time. This may increase the volatility of the market price of MFG's ordinary shares. It may also affect the prevailing market price at which MFG shareholders are able to sell their MFG ordinary shares, or whether they are able to sell at all.

MFG does not guarantee the market price or liquidity of ordinary shares and there is a risk that you may lose some of the money you invested

30. No underwriting and no guarantee that Initial Acquisition will proceed

The Placement and SPP are not underwritten. There is no certainty as to the amount of proceeds that will be raised, which may be materially less than any indicative size or may not be raised at all. The final quantum will depend on investor demand, market conditions, pricing, scale-back and participation levels in the Placement and SPP. If the Placement and/or SPP raise less than expected, MFG may need to rely on existing cash reserves and liquidity, which could affect MFG's financial position and capital management, investment plans.

It is possible that the Placement settles and completes but the Initial Acquisition does not. In those circumstances, MFG will use any cash raised under the Placement for general working capital purposes.
