ITEMS IMPACTING HALF YEAR 2026 RESULTS

Westpac is well positioned to support customers amid ongoing geopolitical uncertainty.

In addition to disclosing the accounting treatment of the pending sale of the RAMS mortgage portfolio, we're providing clarity on the initial impacts of the Middle East conflict.

With the supply shock from the energy market disruption expected to result in higher inflation and higher interest rates, an expected slowing in economic growth will create a more challenging environment for some customers.

A strong financial position during a time of increasing global uncertainty allows us to support customers while accelerating execution of our strategic priorities. This focused execution was reflected in improved operating metrics in the half:

- Balance sheet momentum was solid with lending and deposit growth of 4% and 3% respectively;
- Core NIM, excluding the timing impact of rate rises, was stable in 2Q26;
- Ongoing productivity initiatives supported a 2% decline in expenses¹; and
- Asset quality metrics improved and the CET1 capital ratio strengthened in 2Q26.

Geopolitical uncertainty and the associated increase in market volatility have contributed to the following outcomes:

- Interest rate volatility impacted Treasury and Markets NIM which contributed 7 basis points in 2Q26 compared to 15 basis points in 1Q26; and
- Foreign currency translation from the 6% depreciation in the New Zealand dollar average exchange rate impacted both revenue and costs.

The revised economic outlook has been reflected in our base case provision scenario and a new portfolio overlay has been added for energy intensive sectors. The associated increase in credit provisions in the half is expected to result in:

- The ratio of CAP to credit RWA increasing to c.129 basis points; and
- A credit impairment charge of 10 basis points of average gross loans.

RAMS mortgage portfolio

The sale of the RAMS mortgage portfolio to a consortium which includes Pepper Money Limited ("Pepper Money"), KKR² and PIMCO remains on track for completion in 2H26.

RAMS has been transferred from the Consumer segment to Group Businesses in 1H26 with 1H25 and 2H25 comparatives restated. This change does not impact the Group's net profit after tax or the composition of line items.

The restated 1H25 and 2H25 segments are included in Appendix 1.

The 1H26 result includes a Notable Item related to the transaction costs for the sale of the RAMS mortgage portfolio. This reduced reported net profit after tax by $75 million.

Half Year 2026 results are scheduled to be announced on Tuesday, 5 May 2026.
