Data security incident

Bell Financial Group Limited (ASX:BFG) has become aware of a data security incident involving unauthorised access to a limited number of our IT systems. Together with specialist cyber security advisers, we are investigating the impacts of the incident as a matter of priority.

Client assets remain safe and we are operating as usual.

While the incident has now been contained, we believe it resulted in unauthorised access to some of our clients' data. Our clients remain our priority, and we will promptly contact and support any clients that have been affected.

We have notified the Australian Cyber Security Centre and the Australian Federal Police. We have also engaged with the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner.

Authorised for release by the Board.
